Associated Chambers of Commerce Ask Session of Legislature
Suggestion Un-American is Assertion of Supervisor of San Francisco

MUST COMBAT GROWTH OF YELLOW MEN HERE
Dr. Thomas Declares Picture Brides Should Be Kept From Country

URGING Governor Stephens to convene the state legislature in extra session to consider the Japanese menace, the Associated Chambers of Commerce last night passed resolutions favoring the adoption of national legislation that will prohibit the immigration of Japanese to this country, with particular emphasis laid on the importation of picture brides.

The resolution was offered by Dr. J. D. Thomas of Olive as chairman of the agricultural committee, to which was referred at the last meeting an investigation of the situation in this country, following a presentation of some of the conditions obtaining here by H. H. Covel of Cypress.

"Senator Phelan says there are 150,000 Japs in the United States, 100,000 of which are in California," said Covel last night in speaking for the motion to adopt the resolution. "The birth rate of the Japs in California is equal to that of the whites, and the time has come when we should organize to combat this growing menace. If we don't we soon will be dominated entirely by the little brown men. They and their children and they are rapidly dividing whites from communities in which they locate. In Colusa county, they control 90 per cent of the vegetable output. They are gaining in strength and financial importance everywhere throughout California."

Must Check Immigration
Dr. Thomas declared that the most objectionable feature was the picture bride and that the Japs were propagating so rapidly that it is only a matter of time when they will overwhelm this state and country unless something is done to check the immigration to this country of both men and women.

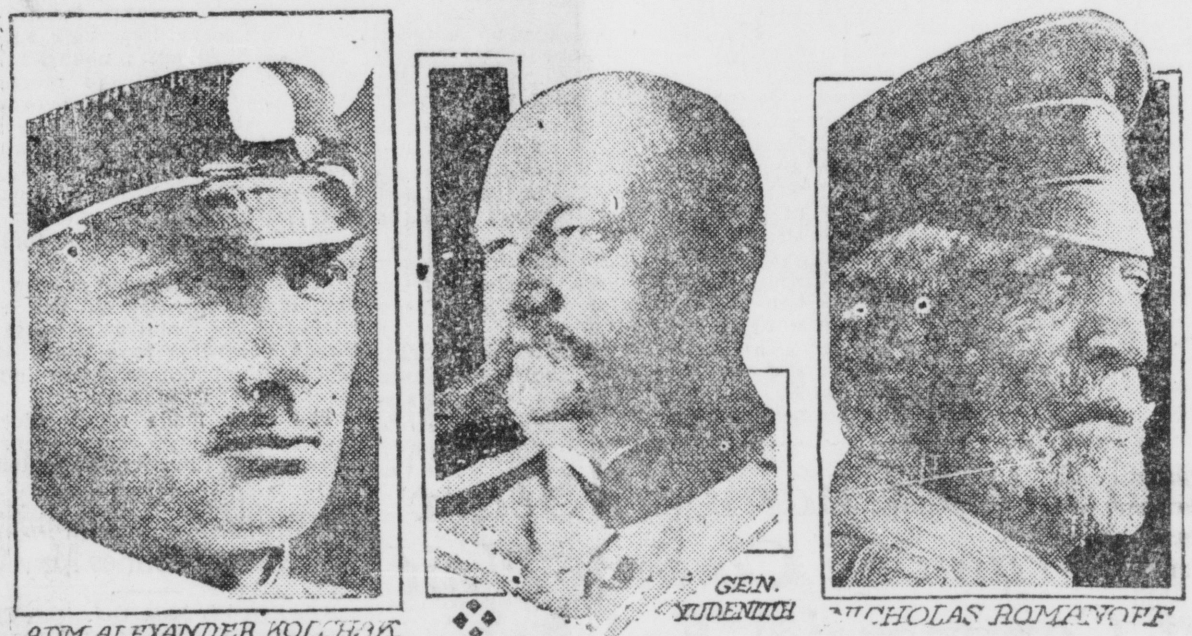

Secretary Metzgar was directed to send copies of the resolution to Governor Stephens and members of the legislature and to urge that a special session be convened immediately following adjournment of the called meeting for action on the national prohibition amendment.

Following is a copy of the resolutions offered by Dr. Thomas, chairman of the agricultural committee:

"Be it resolved, that we pass a resolution endorsing the action of the different bodies and organizations such as our own in protesting against the present Japanese situation in this country, and more particularly in this state, and that we heartily co-operate with other similar organizations and endorse their efforts to influence our congress to change our treaty with Japan, so as to exclude the immigration of Japanese to this country, and particularly prohibit the importation of picture brides."

WILL URGE PRESIDENT TO ESTABLISH PRICES FOR FUEL IN NATION

Lewis Charges Cabinet and Consumer Will Be Protected by Order in Both Price and Supply

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 30.—Coal miners stand firm on the determination to strike, John L. Lewis, president of the United States Mine Workers of America, wired secretary of Labor Wilson today.

Lewis' telegram was in reply to a message received from the Secretary of Labor by the conference of union heads yesterday in which Wilson made "certain suggestions" to aid in settling the difficulty between the miners and operators.

Wilson's message was not given out here, and it was not stated what the suggestions were.

"President Lewis reiterated today that the conference now in session here would not consider any of the 'principles' in connection with the strike."

Merely routing details will be taken up, he said.

The message which was sent to Secretary Wilson declared:

Message to Wilson
"It is, indeed, a sad commentary upon the principles of square dealing when the President of the United States and his cabinet, by unanimous vote ally themselves with sinister financial interests which seek to deny justice to labor and to precipitate our country into industrial turmoil."

Lewis, in a statement, said:

"Unprecedented and unwarranted action of the cabinet and President of the United States in issuing statements Saturday has done more to prevent satisfactory settlement of the impending strike and the working out of a wage agreement than any other element which has entered into the situation."

The strike curtain will go up at midnight tomorrow. At that time orders calling 350,000 bituminous coal miners, members of the United Mine Workers of America to strike will become effective.

Preliminaries were finished today. The battleground, "that of industrial warfare," was chosen by the miners.

All hope that the strike order may be recalled faded as unions chiefs departed for their homes after drafting a final reply to the President's appeal. They returned to their local posts to direct their forces in action.

"The strike of bituminous coal miners is inevitable," was their verdict. It was reached after seven hours' deliberation. The men fully realized the importance of their decision and were in no hurry to make it.

Arguments Are Weighed
They weighed arguments in favor of calling off the strike—that the nation's industries would be tied up, causing untold suffering and claims that they would break their agreement with mine operators—on the one hand.

On the other, they pictured a great army of toilers whose earnings in the last twelve months have averaged only slightly more than $800; whose working time nominally calls for eight hours, but actually is ten hours or more, and who live in small mining camps, where life's pleasures at the most are not many.

And they decided in favor of the strike, in the hope that by a quick, decisive blow they might be able to gain a favorable verdict before the public really feels the pinch. But if the strike should continue until great public suffering results, they believed the action justified by the cause.

The executive board of the miners' union remained in session today. They again reviewed plans for the walkout.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The government today began preparing for the great industrial storm expected to break with the miners strike Saturday.

The railroad administration practically assumed control over all bituminous coal now in transit and issued a priority list which will govern distribution of coal.

Following an extraordinary session of the cabinet Attorney General Palmer announced that President Wilson will be asked today to issue an order virtually establishing maximum coal prices.

"The president will be asked today to make an order cancelling restrictions on the price of fuel which will have the effect of establishing maximum prices."

"On making the order the fuel administrator will take such action as may be necessary to protect consumers both as to price and distribution of fuel."

Secretary Lane summing up the nation's fuel supply was inclined to be optimistic. Heads of various industries and institutions throughout the country, however, predicted that the pinch of the coal famine would be felt within a few weeks.

Thomas C. Brewster, president of the Coal Operators Association in a statement written for the United Press said the mine owners were still ready to negotiate with the men providing the strike order is rescinded. Brewster frankly declared that it will be impossible for the operators to keep the mines running if the strike order goes into effect.

Today's cabinet meeting followed a meeting at Attorney General Palmer's offices late yesterday, at which it was decided:

"The government would watch distribution of the coal supply above the ground and prevent profiteering because of the strike."

Miners who wish to continue work despite the strike order will be protected by Federal troops if necessary.

The Lever, Food and Fuel Act, making it unlawful to hinder production of necessities, will be invoked if that is found essential.

Details Kept Secret
Details of the government's strike plans are secret, but it was learned that orders for the first moves already have been issued.

At the same time, efforts were still being made to avert the threatened strike. Backing up President Wilson's recent declaration outlawing it, Attorney General Palmer issued a statement asserting the walkout would violate the miners' contract and threatening to prosecute those involved under the food and fuel control act.

It was expected that the senate and possibly the house would go on record in vigorous protest against any compromise, but congress was looking to the White House for whatever action is necessary.

"It is up to the executive arm of the government," Senator Frelinghuysen, New Jersey, chairman of the sub-committee investigating the coal situation, said today.

"There is nothing we in congress can do. But now we have a chance to find out whether we have a strong government."

Germans and Austrians to Cause Row at Conference

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Admission of German and Austrian delegates was expected to precipitate a fight when the International Labor Conference resumes sessions late today.

The German delegation is not entitled to be seated in the conference under the rules provided in the peace treaty, since Germany is not yet a member of the league of nations. The delegation embarked at Rotterdam with the hope that the conference would change the rules. The Germans are due to land Sunday. They are traveling on passports issued for admission to the United States by this government.

Those backing the movement to seat them say the purpose of the conference will be defeated unless Germany has a share in framing the recommendations for uniform world industrial legislation.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today may be seated as the first United States delegate. Gompers will be named by the federation as its representative, according to Secretary Morrison.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States also will name a delegate. No representatives of this country sat yesterday because the conference was created by the peace treaty and the senate has not ratified the treaty. However, the conference now has formally invited the federation and the chamber of commerce to designate delegates.

PORTLAND, Oct. 30.—The U. P. railway will not be able to continue operating long if the coal miners actually strike, according to Robert S. Lovett, president of the system, who is in Portland today. Lovett said the road has only a small supply of coal on hand and that the cost of oil makes its use as a fuel prohibitive.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Without a record vote the senate today adopted the Thomas resolution assuring the administration of its support in any constitutional step that may be necessary during the coal strike.

LOSE HOPE FOR MEN IMPRISONED IN MINE
AMSTERDAM, Ohio, Oct. 30.—All hope for the lives of the miners imprisoned in the burning No. 2 mine of the Youghiogheny and Ohio Coal Company here was practically abandoned today when a cave-in occurred at a spot where the miners were believed gathered. Mine officials raised their estimate of the number caught in the mine from 19 to 22.

Mrs. Ella Wheeler Wilcox Is Dead at Home In East

SHORT BEACH, Conn., Oct. 30.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox, author and poet, died today at her home here. She had been ill for several weeks, following a nervous collapse suffered in England.

Mrs. Wilcox died at 2:10 this morning. Members of the household said she had not recovered from the general breakdown suffered nine months ago.

Mrs. Wilcox was born at Johnstown Center, Wis., in 1855. Her childhood days were spent in Wisconsin, and it was here she obtained her early education. She attended the University of Wisconsin.

In her younger life she was a contributor to various American magazines and newspapers, writing poetry, prose and some fiction. She was widely known for her children's books. She was married in 1884 to Robert M. Wilcox, who died in 1916. Her later years were spent at her home at Short Beach, near New Haven. Mrs. Wilcox wrote her autobiography in 1918 under the title, "The World and I." In that year she went to Europe as a representative of the Red Star.

Among her better known books are "The Double Life," "The Beautiful Land of Nod," "Sailing the Sunway Seas," "Historical Mother Goose," "New Thought Common Sense," and "Let Me Forget."

A board of inquiry composed of citizens from the vicinity of Acton, railway officials and state railway commission representatives, gathered early today at the scene of the wreck to start the investigation.

Leaps Off Curve
The wreck occurred at 3:20 yesterday afternoon. Passengers said the train was running 35 miles an hour and railway men were of the opinion that the engineer attempted to take a 10 per cent curve at that speed. The train suddenly leaped, like a serpent, into space and the engine and eight cars piled up forty feet from the track.

All of the injured were on the engine, baggage and express cars or day coaches. The diner and Pullman cars did not leave the track. Engineer Fielder and Fireman Forre died at their posts. Fielder's body was still in the engineer's seat of the cab, one hand on a lever when found. Forre's body was in the fireman's seat.

The wreck severed wire communication and Conductor Cameron, who was not injured, was forced to run to Acton, two and a half miles, to summon aid from Lancaster, San Fernando, Mojave, Bakersfield and Los Angeles.

Rush Relief Trains
Relief trains immediately were sent out. During the night a special train brought in the bodies of four of those killed and 200 uninjured passengers. Another train brought in 54 injured, including sixteen stretcher cases, and another train, bringing the remainder of those hurt arrived early today.

All of the severely injured are in hospitals here. Railroad officials said they expected to have the tracks cleared this morning and also will complete the check of those injured during the day.

The wreck was not without its heroes, according to uninjured passengers reaching here, nor its heroines. Mrs. J. W. Cowden of Mojave, herself slightly hurt, not only helped give first aid at the scene of the wreck, but when she was brought to a hospital here for treatment, ten minutes after her arrival, she was found not in a cot but working as a nurse.

H. P. Gonsouland, colored porter, is accredited with having rescued twenty of the injured from the splintered wreckage of the wooden day coaches. Father Fitzpatrick of Lancaster was among the first to reach the scene. He moved quickly among the injured and dying ministering to their spiritual beings when the physical was beyond help.

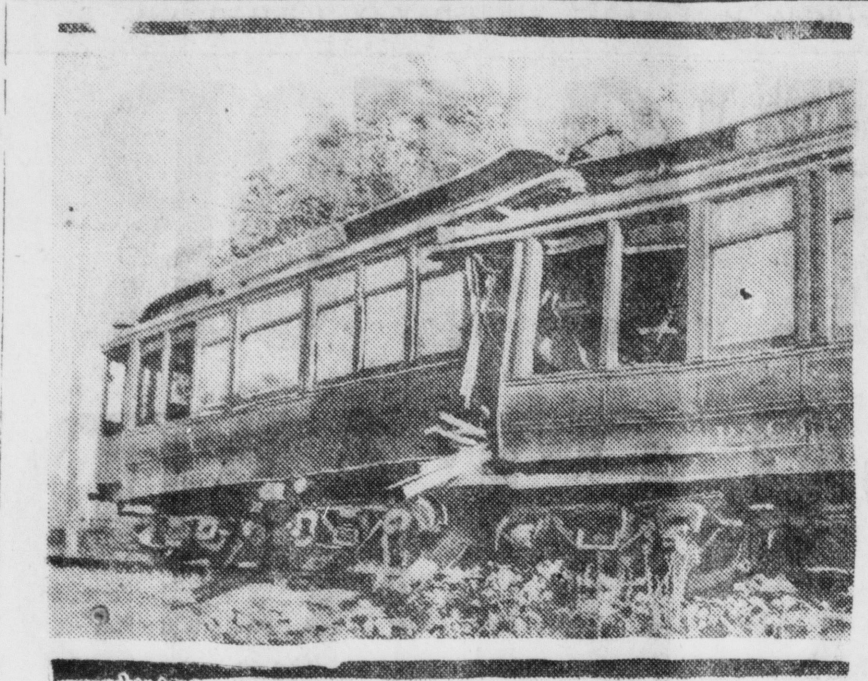

Dan Salter, Meadows, Ill., aged 76, the oldest man aboard the train, suffered a crushed chest. Howard Rogers, aged sixteen months, son of Mrs. I. W. Rogers, of Sacramento, the youngest person aboard, was unhurt and seemed to enjoy himself immensely.

Two Orange County Persons Cut and Bruised in Wreck

T. O. Nichols of Orange and Lucy Flores of Brea are listed among those injured in the wreck of the San Joaquin Flyer at Acton yesterday.

Nichols' face was badly bruised. His worst injury is a deep laceration over the right eye. He was taken to the Crocker street hospital in Los Angeles.

Orange P. E. Cars Collide Head-On on N. Main Curve

Yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, two cars of the Orange-Santa Ana P. E. line collided head-on on the North Main street curve. The passengers escaped death or serious injury by jumping.

The cars were telescoped, each being smashed clear back from the front to the partition back of the forward open space.

Orville V. Hitch, motorman, living at 100 South Olive street, Los Angeles, had an ankle badly sprained when he jumped from his car. E. H. Combs, motorman on the other car, jumped through the open door of his car into the closed portion of the car, and escaped serious injury. He received several small cuts from flying glass.

C. Simmons, conductor, jumped from the car, and was thrown through a barbed wire fence, without a scratch. The tracks to Orange at that point are single. The company maintains a signal system by which the conductor reaching Santa Clara avenue throws a switch, which signals the conductor at the sidetrack between Main street and the Santa Fe tracks that he is on the way. When the Santa Ana-bound car reaches the sidetrack first, the conductor there throws the switch, and the conductor at Santa Clara is supposed to hold his car until the Santa Ana-bound car reaches Santa Clara avenue.

Each of the conductors concerned in yesterday's wreck says that the signal lights showed the track clear. The view of the curve is hidden by walnut trees, and the cars were almost upon each other before either motorman saw the car approaching. Brakes were thrown on, but too late to avoid the collision.

There were but two passengers on the cars, and none of them was in a forward part. The passengers escaped injury.

This is the second head-on collision that has occurred between P. E. cars at this curve.

In company with E. T. Barley, local manager of the Pacific Electric; O. P. Davis, superintendent of the southern division, and other officials of the railway, went to the scene of the accident at 2 o'clock this afternoon to make an investigation.

The conductors on the cars are men who have only been on the run for two or three days. They have been working as extra men.

The tracks were cleared last night, and regular service between Santa Ana and Orange was being maintained today.

Commerce Chambers Start To Organize County Unit of Commercial Federation

SOUNDING a warning to business men that the time has come when they should take a greater interest in governmental affairs and that they should organize to combat the growing influences of the "reds" in this country, men prominent in the affairs of Los Angeles last night at the Associated Chambers of Commerce meeting urged the organization of a unit of the Commercial Federation of California in Orange county.

The speakers on the subject were H. M. Haldeman, president of the organization; John G. Mott, an attorney; F. W. Kellogg, publisher of the Los Angeles Express, and Geo. W. Cartwright, state senator.

Haldeman said that organization of the association had been in progress for seven years and was the result of experiences he had in attempts at state legislation when bills that threatened to work severe injury in the state were up for consideration. Los Angeles business men sent a delegation to the legislature and not one of the contingent personally knew any of the members of the state legislature whom they could approach.

The business men had been so absorbed with their private interests that they had neglected the important feature of keeping in touch with government affairs.

Since then the organization has taken a deep interest in such affairs and has been instrumental in electing men known to business interests in the state legislature and in the city government.

I. W. W. Is Thriving
Going into present labor conditions, he declared that today I. W. W. is thriving in Los Angeles and elsewhere and that within the city of Los Angeles there are no less than eight places where revolution is being advocated openly, and without any organized effort being made to check it.

"Labor unions are all right when they stick to their place," declared the president of the Federation, "but when they get to the point where they say they will tie up the industries of the nation, and say they are going to rule this country—then I say it is time for us to organize to control their supposed strength. Three per cent are shaping the laws of this nation because they are organized and working against the greater majority unorganized."

A resolution introduced by Secretary Metzgar calling upon Governor Stephens to include legislation in the special meeting of the state legislature providing for pay for National Guardsmen, was adopted, and the secretary directed to wire Governor Stephens. The governor will be asked to include this in the call for a second session if the state body is called to convene for action on the Japanese question. The national defense act provides for an appropriation of $2,500,000 for support of the National Guard and the last legislature passed a law conforming to the national act, but it was vetoed by the governor. Metzgar declared that with labor conditions as they are today it was essential that full guard companies be maintained.

Farm Loan Taxation
H. H. Covell called attention to the proposal to tax farm loan bonds and requested that the Associated Chambers oppose it. He said that at least $200,000 was loaned in this county to farmers at 5 1/2 per cent, and that if the farm loan bonds are taxed it would mean an increase in the rate. The matter was placed in the hands of the legislative committee for consideration.

F. W. Kellogg declared that I. W. W.'s and Bolshevists were securing control of the unions and that they would resort to any extreme for duty in the coal strike. The governor also asked for a conference Saturday with state officers of the American Legion to arrange for the aid of war veterans in preserving order.

Governor Shoup announced his determination "sternly to repress violence and disorder," and to protect "the constitutional right of every man to work when, where or for whom he pleases." The state troops, numbering about 1,000, will be used principally to protect miners who have announced their intention of continuing at work.

Prices on soft coal at the mines jumped $3 per ton on the cheaper grades as the result of the coal strike threat, according to officials of the Liberty Fuel Company, an independent concern, here today.

The raise made retail prices prohibitive, leaving many consumers without fuel, the company stated.

Operators Scale Committee Head Says Mines May Close

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 30.—Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the mine operators' scale committee, said today mine workers will be met only if they agree first to rescind the strike order, effective Friday night.

Mine owners will not attempt to turn their properties when the strike becomes effective, he said. He denied operators had called a meeting for Cleveland to discuss the pending strike.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 30.—Telegrams condemning the announced attitude of the government toward the coal strike, and pledging the strikers the support of Arizona labor, were forwarded today by the convention of the Arizona State Federation of Labor to President Wilson and to Acting President Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America.

The telegrams followed passage of resolutions on the coal strike by the convention late yesterday.

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—All roads have at least a thirty days' supply of coal on hand and in the event of serious shortage some of this may be divided with householders and essential industries, according to a statement issued today from the office of Regional Director R. H. Ashton of the railroad administration that the seizure of coal by a railroad in Colorado is anything but a "local measure." No extension of commandeering is contemplated at present, they said.

to threaten the foundation of the world.

Upon motion of A. S. Bradford, the chair was authorized to appoint a committee to work out details for the organization of a unit of the Commercial Federation of California in Orange county, and this morning President Eymann Huff appointed A. S. Bradford, Placentia; L. P. Damewood, Orange, and C. F. Smith, Santa Ana, as such committee.

Attendance Large.
The meeting last night, which was held at the Oyster Loaf Cafe in Anaheim, was one of the best attended meetings held recently and one of the most interesting sessions held in recent months resulted. There were eight or ten in the delegation from Los Angeles; there were a large number of representatives of the Automobile Club of Southern California, and practically every organization connected with the Associated Chambers was represented. The local attendance was due to anticipation of the broaching of the road bonding proposition.

Chas. Eygabroad delivered the address of welcome and the response was by Dr. J. D. Thomas of Olive. President D. Eymann Huff presided and Secretary Metzgar was present as usual.

Discussion of the Commercial Federation of California was taken up at once, the usual opening formalities being dispensed with. This was followed by discussion of the good road bonds and the Japanese question, both of which subjects are treated in other columns in this issue of the Register.

Lew Wallace of Newport Beach, gave an example of the financing capabilities of the Orange County Harbor Commission by stating that the commission had let contracts aggregating $600,000 with but $500,000 available from the county bonds. Of the difference it is estimated that $60,000 will be available by the sale of dragged material, "and we will pull through with the balance in some manner," declared Wallace.

for their homes, again assured the executive officers that the men in the mines are behind the strike 100 per cent.

The meeting which decided that the strike must go on was in entire harmony, according to all reports today.

"There was but one verdict possible, from the miners' point of view," said Ellis Searles, union spokesman. "However, the union heads wished to give all questions full consideration before arriving at that decision."

Although the statement was addressed to President Wilson, a copy will not be sent to him. The miners did not receive a copy of the President's appeal, which was addressed to them.

Indiana representatives of coal mine operators were ready to leave here early today to attend the meeting of operators at Cleveland to consider the miners' strike.

The Indian representatives are E. D. Logsdon, M. L. Gould, Indianapolis, and A. M. Ogle and P. H. Penna, Terre Haute.

"I received the call to attend the meeting last night after word that miners had refused to cancel the strike order was sent," said Logsdon. "I have received no word as to the purpose of the meeting."

Reports early today were that the operators would review the strike situation and consider offering their services to the government in case federal authorities assume control of the mines.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Results of the first day's campaign here to enforce the new national prohibition act today showed two wounded by revenue agents' revolver shots; eight saloons closed and eighteen arrests on charges of violating war-time prohibition.

The two men were wounded in a fight in a saloon following an attempt to search the place.

Most saloons in New York remained open, selling one-half of one per cent beer. It was understood, however, that many saloons sold 2.75 and straight whiskey to "old friends."

NAVAL STATION WILL HAVE NEW QUARTERS

Recruiting Office Will Move to Room 224, Spurgeon
Building on Saturday

Chief Carpenter's Mate, J. F. Hedrick, in charge of the local navy recruiting station, is making arrangements to move the office from 107 1/2 East Fourth street to more commodious quarters in the W. H. Spurgeon building. On and after Saturday the office will be in room 244 of that office building.

"Now is the time for young men to enlist in the navy for from two to four years," said Hedrick today. "Good food, first outfit of clothes free, medical attention, excellent opportunities for advancement and good pay twice a month are some of the inducements that should attract many young men. The new bill for a fifty per cent increase in pay for the navy is now before congress and according to reports is getting favorable results."

"All the trade schools are running full blast at the present time. The individual can learn the trade he is most interested in, and from the best experts in the world. He can pick the ship he would like to serve his time on and take advantage of the great opportunity to visit some of the great ports of the world. Each port should mean another big event in the life of the enlisted man. It is something he will be able to tell his friends about, and will give him a fund of world knowledge that he could not obtain in any other way except at the outlay of a large amount of money. He is getting this knowledge and at the same time drawing down good pay while in the service."

"The aviation school is still open for enlistments, but it may be only for a limited length of time. All schools are in charge of experienced instructors and instruction in every branch of mechanical endeavor is open to the navy man."

Curbstone Philosophy

Curbstone Philosopher in Santa Ana Bulletin: A Santa Ana man asks us how to figure out whether it is cheaper to rent or to build your own home. It isn't hard to do that, but it is the unalloyed thing—to yourself and your family—that you could possibly do. We hate to tell him, it's so misleading. The coldblooded way is to figure it this way: Capitalize your rent, and figure that if you build a home costing the amount that results you are paying your rent to yourself, and therefore that it pays you as well as it does your landlord. But that way, though technically accurate, is grossly misleading. Suppose that $40 a month is the most you can afford to pay for rent. That's $480 a year. Four hundred and eighty dollars a year is ten per cent gross on $4800. If you are figuring wholly on a cold-blooded basis, that's the most you can afford to put into a house. Yet if you are paying $40 a month rent, the chances are that you would not be satisfied with a home that costs less than, say, $8000 dollars. And on that basis, if you are still figuring cold-bloodedly, you can't afford to build your own home. But the trouble with that sort of figuring is that it omits so much—and that pretty nearly everything it omits is of more consequence and more real value and more lasting satisfaction than money. For instance, how can you figure the net return in dollars and cents on the solid satisfaction of owing your own home?

IRON DIVISION PAIR WAR CHEST THIEVES

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Two of the famous Iron Division in Lithuania, Hubert Diemer and Fritz Pischal, members of the Shock Battalion Wildemann, gave their battalion a real shock by stealing the war chest, containing 180,000 marks, mostly in 1000-mark bills, with some Russian silver and paper money thrown in.

Berlin detectives became suspicious of the lavish purchases made by two young soldiers on a shopping expedition in and about the Friedrichstrasse, and arresting them revealed their identity as the two shock thieves of the Iron Division.

They had only 50,000 marks left. They confessed that on the railroad trip to Berlin they fell asleep and were robbed of considerable money. Arrived in Berlin, they went to a nobly tailor and ordered new clothes.

OBSERVE NATAL DAY OF CASPAR BORCHARD

Talbert Relatives Attend the 77th Anniversary of Conejo Man

TALBERT, Oct. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Leo Borchard and niece, Miss Clara Hauptmann left Saturday on a motor trip to Conejo, from which place they returned Monday night. Sunday was the birthday anniversary of Mr. Caspar Borchard, Sr., and a large party of his relatives gathered at his home in honor of the occasion. Not a child or grandchild was missing. The day marked Mr. Borchard's seventy-seventh milestone and between seventy and eighty of his family were there to do him honor. A monster barbecue was a main event of the day's pleasures, which was duly enjoyed by all.

The terrific wind encountered by the Borchards on their way homeward trip Monday night somewhat marred the ending of their good time. The main force of the storm was felt in the vicinity of San Fernando and was quite heavy the remainder of the day.

Mrs. Jones, who resides on the Kawaske ranch, southeast of Talbert, underwent an operation at the Santa Ana hospital Monday morning.

C. C. Hecock was a visitor over Friday and Saturday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Arnold Walker, and upon his return to Elfinan was accompanied by Mrs. Hecock, who had spent several days here during Mrs. Walker's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wells were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wells from Los Angeles.

Chas. Ward lost one of his most valuable young horses from acute indigestion Sunday night.

Miss Lupe Ramez of Los Angeles, was a weekend guest of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Courreges.

Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Foreman returned here Sunday, after a few days visit in Los Angeles and remained as guests of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Woodson until Monday. On Sunday Rev. Foreman preached at each of Rev. Woodman's charges—at Greenville at 11 o'clock, Bolsa at 3:30 and Talbert at 8:30 p. m. A duet by Rev. and Mrs. Foreman was a musical treat greatly enjoyed by each of the congregations. On Monday Rev. and Mrs. Woodson and daughters, Mable Lee and Dorothy, drove to Los Angeles with Rev. and Mrs. Foreman and remained over until Tuesday evening. Rev. and Mrs. Foreman go from Los Angeles to Nogales, Arizona.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Walker and daughters, Elinore and Bernice, were among the guests who gathered Tuesday evening at the D. W. Irwin home at Greenville in celebration of the birthday anniversary of their aunt, Mrs. Lilly Chaffee, of San Jose, who is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Corinna Walker. The guests included all the relatives of this vicinity and a very pleasant evening resulted. Refreshments of ice cream and cake was served.

A. P. Vincent received a letter the first of the week from J. G. Bland of Fisk, Mo., who with his family resided here while he was employed on the S. E. Talbert ranch. Bland is very anxious to return to California, but Mrs. Bland is too ill to stand the trip. She has been bedfast since the first part of February, and is not able to sit up over a quarter of an hour at the time. They have been unable to secure help and Mr. Bland as a consequence has to remain with her all the time.

The Talbert dredger, which is leased out to a company at Prado, is up for repairs. A new boiler will have to be installed and Chas. Ward spent Monday at Brea seeing a boilermaker and making arrangements for the work to be done at once. The men went to Prado Tuesday and Wednesday to see about the work.

Mrs. L. T. Wells is expecting her son, Eugene Perry, home Friday on a forty-eight-hour furlough. Perry is a member of the crew of the U. S. S. New Mexico, now stationed at San Pedro. His furloughs so far have been of but twenty-four hours' duration, allowing but a short visit at home, the majority of the time being taken up enroute.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ward were Los Angeles visitors Wednesday.

A box supper will be held at the Japanese hall next Saturday evening under the auspices of the Fountain Valley school. A program, which promises to be most interesting, will be given by the pupils who are working hard for the success of the affair. The proceeds of which will go toward buying a school Victrola. A general invitation is extended to everyone to come and bring a basket or come prepared to buy one and have a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Eastman of Hemet, are at the Arnold Walker home, where Eastman is milker for the dairy and Mrs. Eastman is assisting Mrs. Walker in the housework. Mrs. Eastman arrived Thursday and Mr. Eastman several days previously.

L. T. Wells turned his beans again Saturday, this making the third time for the season on account of the scattering rains. A light mold was found on the beans next to the ground, in spite of their haste to turn them as soon as possible. With six men working in the field, forty-four acres were turned in a little over two hours. Wells has not threshed any of his bean crop so far. His threshing is at present giving him trouble and as soon as it is repaired he expects to begin on his own.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Talbert motored to Orange County Park on Sunday.

Mr. Masonhammer and family, who reside on the Goldsmith ranch a mile southeast of Talbert, are preparing to move to Huntington Beach next week. They will remain there only temporarily while a house is being put in condition for occupancy on the other Goldsmith ranch, to which they will move.

they will move.

Jim Dunn is the owner of a new Buick "Six."

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Borchard entertained as dinner guests at their home Sunday Rev. and Mrs. E. J. Rudnick and family of Santa Ana. The visit was one of farewell, the family having left Tuesday of this week for Downing, Calif., where Rev. Rudnick goes as pastor of the Lutheran church.

WESTMINSTER NOTES

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 30.—Miss Dorothy Chevier of Los Angeles, a talented soloist, favored the Presbyterian congregation on Sunday with the solo, "Just As I Am," the music being her own arrangement. She also led the congregational singing in the absence of the chorister, W. E. Smith. Her singing was much appreciated, and many expressed the desire to hear her again. She was a guest at the Byram home from Saturday till Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Clara McKee, of Eagle Rock, spent Thursday with her sister, Mrs. F. J. Grandy. She came from Long Beach by stage and returned home by way of Huntington Beach.

A WORKING GIRL'S LIFE

Day in and day out, month after month, she toils. Often she is the breadwinner of the family and must work that others may live. Rain or shine, warm or cold, she must be at her place of employment on time. A great majority of such girls are on their feet from morning until night, and symptoms of female troubles are early manifested by weak and aching backs, dragging-down pains, headaches and nervousness. Such girls are asked to try that most successful of all remedies for woman's ills, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been giving girls strength to do their work.—Adv.

SIXTH AND MAIN CORNER BRINGS NEAR $20,000

Valuation on Business Property Established at Approximately $400 front Foot

A valuation of approximately $400 per front foot was established this week on Main street property in the vicinity of Sixth in the sale of the fifty feet at the southeast corner of Sixth and Main by A. J. Visel and Henry Diers. The buyer was Floyd Smith, a recent arrival in this city, who has quickly grasped the possibility of further development in that vicinity.

There are two store rooms on the property, Nos. 521 and 523, the former being occupied by the International Electric company and the other by the Rutledge Radiator repair shop.

Visel also has sold his home at the corner of French and Sixth streets, the purchaser being Mrs. C. M. Maag and father, John Gaetz, the consideration being $9000. There are fourteen rooms in the residence and it has been occupied by the Visels for a number of years.

"Daddy" Visel and his family are not going to leave Santa Ana, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The reports have been occasioned by the fact that Mr. Visel has been disposing of considerable of his property recently.

"I have raised my family and have no further use for such a large house," said the former mayor this morning in discussing the sale of his home "East Sixth street is getting to be some busy street and a little noisy through the progress of business enterprises in that direction, and I will seek a place a little more quiet for my home."

"It is my intention to build a residence in the near future, but where, I have not fully determined. I am not going to leave Santa Ana—why, where would I go to find a more congenial surrounding of home life than right here in Santa Ana? Not much, no move for me. Santa Ana is good enough for me, and right here is where I am going to stay until summoned to another world."

GOOD ROADS BONDS

The Associated Chambers of Commerce is asking the Board of Supervisors to appoint a County Highway Commission with a view to taking preliminary steps toward a substantial bond issue for additional paved roads in Orange county.

Orange county has many good road needs. It probably always will have, so long as it continues to develop. Whether or not now is the time to endeavor to vote more bonds is a question that has been passed upon in the affirmative by the Associated Chambers of Commerce, and the question is now up to the Board of Supervisors for a decision.

Our good roads needs are not confined to the need for new roads. A careful survey of the situation may convince the members of a county highway commission that what is needed right now is a fund of considerable proportions to be used in strengthening the roads already paved so that they can stand up under the heavy trucking to which they are subjected, trucking that is far heavier and more destructive than could have been foreseen when the roads were built.

It will be useless to attempt a county bond issue that does not offer a fair distribution of the expenditures throughout the county. There is no question but that the people of Orange county favor paved roads. They won't use any other kind of a road if they can help it, and in general we may say that they will stand solidly for more paved roads. In general, too, we are safe in asserting that Orange county people are convinced that what is good for one part of the county is good for all of the county. Nevertheless, the element of satisfying a large proportion of the voters by giving the various sections of the county a close-at-home share in the project must be recognized as an essential element in carrying good roads bonds.

Whether or not bonds will carry will depend largely upon the good judgment of the proposed highway commission. That is, the details of the plan are of paramount importance in the program. There is no use attempting a bond issue if it is a foregone conclusion that the bonds cannot be carried, but no one can pass personal or official judgment upon the advisability of attempting the construction of more paved roads by means of a bond issue until full details are obtained.

Whether or not bonds should be attempted now may be a debatable question, but one thing is certain, and that is that Orange county in its official life cannot pay too much attention to its good roads. Any suggestion for a good roads program should be given careful consideration, and if it meets real needs of the county, no county official need hesitate about going ahead with the program.

FAULTS OF HUSBANDS

A woman's magazine is conducting a prize contest in which wives are writing barrels of letters to tell of the worst fault of their respective husbands and how they helped him correct it.

This ought to interest men. What is the worst fault a husband can have, anyhow? According to many of these women, disorderliness taxes the palm. They just leave their clothes around any old place for their wives to pick up. Usually, it seems, the wives go on picking them up for years and then the worm turns.

Then there are the husbands who lose their temper over trifles. There are the husbands who swear on any and all occasions, appropriate or inappropriate. Not but what most women can relish a good-sized exasperated swear-word when the occasion seems to call for it. But swearing at the dinner table, before guests or children, or swearing at the waiter or cabby in a public place, is different. Often this is husband's worst fault.

Then there is the husband who is always late, and the one who tries to hold his wife's taste in clothing down to the styles his mother wore when he was young, the husband who eats with loud crunches, and the husband who always brags to the guests about his good cooking, and the inattentive husband who always asks, "What?" and makes the wife repeat what she has said.

It is a long list and a sad one. But when one has studied it in all its horrors, one is forced to the conclusion that take them on the whole, if this is the worst that can be said for them, American husbands are not so bad, after all. Anyhow, most American women will worry along with them till death do them part.

A SUGGESTION

Says a well-informed laboring man, explaining the present industrial unrest:

"The American workman is the biggest, reddest blooded, two-fisted laborer on earth, and 99 per cent of the workmen of this country are absolutely square at heart. They are simply falling for the specious arguments handed out by the most efficiently directed army of agitators that ever existed in this country, and they are accepting the wild statements of these agitators because there is practically no attempt being made to contradict their inflammatory statements."

The workmen of America, he declares, have become convinced that capital today is receiving 85 to 90 per cent of the earnings of industry. They would soon show a very different spirit, he says, if it were made plain to them that as a matter of fact labor is receiving 85 to 90 per cent of what industry produces, and capital 10 to 15 per cent.

There is not a plant in the country, he believes, that does not contain at least 35 per cent of men with enough fairness and loyalty in their hearts to induce them to contradict the lying statements of the radicals if they themselves were once made acquainted with the truth. His remedy for all this industrial confusion is to seek out that 35 per cent, give them systematic instruction in the fundamental facts of modern industry, with particular emphasis in each case on their own industry, and let them handle the situation.

It is a novel and pretentious suggestion; but has anybody a better plan?

A Sensation

Fresno Republican
The brief newspaper sensation over the alleged success of Dr. Serge Voronoff, a Russian surgeon in Paris, in restoring youth to old men by the grafting on them of the interstitial glands of young chimpanzees, or the even more sensational experiment of Dr. Stanley at San Quentin in working the same miracle on aged convicts by grafting on them the corresponding glands of freshly-hung young murderers, will probably soon go the way of its predecessors. We need not doubt the veracity of either of these authorities nor question that they have in some instances at least temporarily rejuvenated decrepit old men or normalized prematurely old young men. There is nothing theoretically impossible about it, and probably it has been done. Probably also the result will be temporary in the few cases of success, and the failures will be many more than the successes. Some useful advance in the problem of meeting human ills has probably been made. But it will scarcely equal the sensational speculations upon this advance made in the newspaper accounts of it.

An Insurance

Ex-Senator F. P. Flint
The high character of Roosevelt is something toward which every one should strive and the campaign for funds for a memorial to the great leader and citizen gives everyone the opportunity to take a tangible step toward perpetuating in coming generations the adhesion to ideals that made him great.

No greater patriotism now can be manifested that will carry Rooseveltian ideals down through the generations of Americans yet to come.

Think what it will mean to have a permanently endowed lectureship inculcating in the youths of the United States the square deal principles of Roosevelt!

It will be permanent insurance against Bolshevism, I. W. M. and all forms of red unrest.

Innocents Die

Sitting Tight

Why Treaty Is Not Perfect

(Herbert Hoover in November Sunset)

The treaty finally reached at Paris is by no means perfect. I see no method by which it could have been made perfect when five hundred men, representing twenty-three different nationalities, were engaged in its negotiation and when agreement had to be unanimous. Difference in national character and in national aspirations could but cause much difference in views. Many of them represented desperate, passionate or selfish objects, some were dominated by political ideals of the last century, yet the most were actuated by the prayers of the common people, who really fought this war, that it should be the last war. There existed in the world before this conference scores of those major international wrongs which breed war. Of these the peace conference corrected some, but it will take perhaps a hundred years for the men of good will to correct them all. It is often overlooked that this was not a conference to settle wrongs committed by allies or neutrals, but by the enemy only. It was German wrongs that were on the operating table. It would have been beautiful to have settled all the international wrongs on the domination of Europe. The old guard in Germany hoped and expected that this would result; up to date, at least, they have been disappointed. No one could regret more than the American delegation that some great wrongs, the result of the secret treaties that had been written in times of complete desperation amongst the original allies, were not eradicated at the conference. In this the American group were a minority of one, endeavoring to secure that right should be done, in a meeting that required unanimous agreement. There are many other items in the treaty which men of good will would have liked to see different. Our delegation could have found cause to withdraw from the conference on many scores. We would have been withdrawing in the face of the enemy, and Germany, by this division of the allies, would have been victorious.

MAKE ME STRONG

Make Thou me strong, O Lord!
Not for the victor's wreathed crown,
Not for the glory and renown
But in the hour of grim defeat
That comes upon the battle's heat—
Bless Thou my blunted sword!

Make Thou me strong, O Lord!
Not for the council's highest seat,
But, mingling in the crowded street
To speak with yonder lowly man
As with a brother of Thy plan—
Bless Thou my humble sword!

Make Thou me strong, O Lord!

Where hungry millions tread their day,
But if, at eve when courage pales
My step shall guide a fool that fails—

WOMAN THINKS PIPE AID TO LONG LIFE

WESTFIELD, Mass., Oct. 30.—To the use of tobacco was attributed her longevity by Mrs. Mary Jane Adgate, aged eighty-two years, who died in her home on Thomas street here. Mrs. Adgate smoked a pipe for years, beginning the habit when she was a little girl.

She acquired the taste for tobacco from her grandmother, who was a pipe smoker. She had no use for the weed in any other form but the pipe smoking, and secured the greatest amount of pleasure out of one of the old familiar clay "T. D." pipes.

She had been in failing health for some time, but even during her sickness would not depart from her habit of smoking a pipe.

GERMANY WITHOUT NATIONAL HOLIDAY

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Germany today is without a national holiday—a curiosity among nations. The revolution gave a knockout blow to the popular holiday celebration of "Kaiser's Birthday" and the loss of the war has put a quietus on Germany's Fourth of July joy day—Sedan Day.

Hardly a handful of flags were run up or hung out in all Berlin on the latest Sedan Day. A conspicuous "patriotic" exception was the Imperial Admiralty Building, over which waved the German ex-navy's war flag.

At the foot of the monument of Kaiser Wilhelm "the Grocer" (as he was nicknamed by doughboys, seeing the same person's monumental question statue in Coblenz at the confluence of the Rhine and Moselle) admirers of monarchism had laid one solitary wreath, decorated with streamers in the old imperial national colors, black, white and red.

BOYS, EIGHT AND TEN HELD SAFE CRACKERS

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—In front of a safe cracked with considerable craftsmanship, Berlin detectives discovered the print of a bare foot, child's size, though they could hardly persuade themselves that the safe burglar could be a child. A few nights later the burglars, two boys aged eight and ten, were surprised breaking a window pane and tracked to their lair in a box car, where they had a regular robbers' den equipped with mattresses and other conveniences.

Despondency
Sufferers from indigestion are apt to become discouraged and feel that complete recovery is not to be hoped for. No one could make a greater mistake. Hundreds have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Tablets and can now eat anything that they crave. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. If you have not tried them do so at once.—Adv.

THE BEST TEST Is the Test of Time

Years ago P. G. Etchison, retired merchant of 826 Garfield St., Santa Ana, told of good results from using Doan's Kidney Pills. Now Mr. Etchison confirms the former statement—says there has been no return of the trouble. Can Santa Ana people ask for more convincing testimony?

"I was troubled by a dull pain in the small of my back," says Mr. Etchison. "When I remained in a stooping position very long, I was sure to suffer worse. Doan's Kidney Pills being recommended for such complaints, I tried them. They relieved the trouble and I have had no trace of it since."

NEARLY EIGHT YEARS LATER. Mr. Etchison said: "The cure which I spoke of in my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills has proved to be a permanent one."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Etchison had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE EARTH AND MAN

A little sun, a little rain,
A soft wind blowing from the west
And woods and fields are sweet again,
And warmth within the mountain's breast.

So simple is the earth we tread,
So quick with love and life her frame,
Ten thousand years have dawned and fled,
And still her magic is the same.

A little love, a little trust,
A soft impulse, a sudden dream—
And life as dry as desert dust
Is fresher than a mountain stream.

So simple is the heart of man,
So ready for new hope and joy;
Ten thousand years since it began
Have left it younger than a boy.

Ladies' Aid Society

The Northwest Section of Ladies Aid Society of the First M. E. church will meet tomorrow with Mrs. Davies, 818 Minter street, in her new home. A large attendance is desired. The ladies are requested to take their needles and thimbles as there will be plenty of work and a pleasant time for all.

Interesting Guests

The Santa Ana Chapter, D. A. R., is to meet Saturday afternoon with Mrs. C. R. Sumner, 1108 North Main street. This meeting promises to be of more than usual interest since some of the state officers are to be present, including Mrs. C. C. Cottle, state regent, also Mrs. J. D. Eaton, of Los Angeles, who will speak along lines of Americanization, with reference to the Mexican people. Mrs. Eaton speaks from personal experience, having spent many years in Mexico. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance to welcome the guests.

In Honor of Guests

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby entertained last evening with a Halloween party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. P. Stearns of Stockton. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Hulberk and Mr. and Mrs. L. Epern of Northfield, Minn., who expect to make their home here. The invited guests went dressed as ghosts and held their revelry in the house, appropriately decorated with witches, black cats and other Halloween features.

Ring-Thompson

A quiet wedding celebrated recently at the home of W. L. Lowe, united Miss Andis Gayle Ring, a graduate of the Santa Ana high school, and Ernest Section Thompson, also of Santa Ana. The bride was beautifully gowned in white georgette over satin and carried a gorgeous bouquet of white chrysanthemums. She was given away by her father, W. L. Lowe. The party motored to San Diego for their honeymoon and will be at home to their friends at 1017 West Fifth street, after the first of November.

Reception for Teachers

The Santa Ana city teachers were guests at a reception given them last evening at Odd Fellows' hall by the members of the Board of Education. Over a hundred and twenty teachers availed themselves of the delightful opportunity to visit among themselves and to become better acquainted with their hosts and new members of the faculty. A pleasure they took advantage of during the assembling of the teachers, and preceding a few remarks from A. B. Gardner, who introduced the artists appearing on the program of excellent quality, including several violin solos by Ollie May Mathews and piano numbers by Miss Lenora Tompkins.

An orchestra concealed behind the potted palms and large basket of yellow pompon chrysanthemums in which the hall was decorated, continued with music while the guests visited over glasses of punch served by Misses Rena Cranston, Zena Leck, Helen Phillips and Margaret May.

In the receiving line were Messrs. and Mesdames J. A. Cranston, J. L. McBride, F. L. Andrews, A. B. Gardner, H. C. Dawes and J. D. Wilson.

Semi-Annual Convention

The semi-annual convocation of Los Angeles and Orange counties was held yesterday at St. Paul's church, Pomona. Santa Ana had the honor of being second in number of delegates present, first honors going to St. Andrews' church of Los Angeles, with twenty-one delegates, Santa Ana seventeen.

The meeting was splendidly attended and very interesting. At noon 146 delegates were entertained at dinner by the Guild ladies of St. Paul's church and a number of delegates went to their own homes.

Some few came in the afternoon, who did not come in the forenoon.

The principal business of the convention was the nation-wide campaign. Rev. Mr. Huntington, the chairman of the campaign committee, gave an illuminating and most interesting talk. He said the printers' strike in New York detained the accumulation of reports, but it was hoped to have everything ready for the great drive December 7th. Everywhere he found great enthusiasm and he himself had derived a great benefit from the inspiration he had received.

At noon the prayer for missions was said, then all adjourned to the parish hall for "coffee and doughnuts" as the rector expressed it, but which proved to be a bountiful dinner.

At the afternoon session, Rev. Cleg-horn, in charge of the work among the colored people gave a short but feeling talk about his work among his own people. He begged people not to misinterpret the race riots, saying such things followed wars and would pass away.

Mr. Holt, of Los Angeles, pleaded most eloquently for the diocesan "old people's home," to include old men as well as old women.

Dr. Browne asked for the support of the church paper, making the point that if every church family took and read the paper, no one would be at a loss on account of lack of information about the nation wide campaign.

Mr. Smith spoke briefly of the work of the city and county mission of Los Angeles, Mr. Randall and Mr. Webb, donating their services to the work of the mission.

Rev. Mr. Renison, general Missionary, gave his usual wonderful account of work done in the small outside towns. One gentleman in Los Angeles worked among people of forty nationalities.

Dr. Manning spoke of the work of an English clergyman, new in the United States in the interests of the ministry of healing and introduced a resolution to the effect that the convocation request the bishop to extend Dr. Nixon an invitation to speak in Los Angeles.

Mr. Williams spoke of the work of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew during the war. The government called on them as the only organization of trained laymen for Christian work.

The brotherhood sent out one hundred men to work with the Y. M. C. A. and also paying their salaries. He had known something of the Indian troops and found that the Indians have no word in their language that is an oath.

Halloween Fun

Halloween fun was enjoyed by the Athena Club at its gathering in the gymnasium yesterday afternoon after school. The meeting opened with the president, Nellie Larson, presiding. The minutes of the last meeting were read.

Following the usual business, the girls seated themselves on the floor, and were entertained by five ghostly spirits who danced spookily about, groaning and moaning and screeching in low and high voices. Irene Preble pleased with a reading entitled "The Hoodoo," by James Whitcomb Riley.

Apples, which were strung all over the room, were then fought for (some won, some didn't). The girls were given another chance for apples, which bobbed around in a tub of water.

Games, such as pinning the cat's tail where it belonged, were played and a general good time was enjoyed.

The decorations of yellow and black crepe paper strung across the ceiling from corner to corner, and wonderful autumn leaves spread out on the piano were very suggestive of the season.

Mrs. Lawton Council Head

Late yesterday afternoon, in Los Angeles, at Ebell, Mrs. A. J. Lawson, the incoming president of the Women's Legislative Council of California, took the symbol of her office, the gavel from the retiring president, Mrs. A. E. Carter, of Oakland.

The ceremony at 6 p. m. marked the close of a day crowded with lively and serious debate on the various delicate points that surrounded the adoption of the resolutions and the annual election of officers.

The most important action taken yesterday was the adoption of the recommendation of the executive board, that a special committee of eleven be appointed with Mrs. A. E. Carter as chairman to continue the work for the proposed community property law.

The newly elected officers are: President, Mrs. A. J. Lawson of Santa Ana; first vice president, Mrs. E. D. Knight of San Francisco; second vice president, Mrs. Mabel Willebrand, identified with the Friday Morning Club public affairs committee and the Woman Lawyer's Club of this city; recording secretary, Miss Paula Dunagan, district federation chairman of Landmarks; assistant recording secretary, Miss Martha Lyons of Berkeley; treasurer, Mrs. Ambrose Beebe of Los Angeles and auditor, Mrs. A. M. MacLeish of Millbrae.

Surprised by Friends

Mr. and Mrs. George Paul, Jr., were surprised by a number of their friends, who recently gathered at their home to congratulate them upon their fourth anniversary.

Stunts and music passed the early part of the evening very quickly and later elaborate refreshments were produced by the "surprising guests." Present were: Messrs. and Mesdames George Paul, Jr., Chas. Schultz, Sam Barker, Thomas Willits, Don Lee Andrews, James Livesey, Jr., and Verne House.

Birthday Surprise

The thirty-second birthday of Mrs. Antone Borchard was pleasantly celebrated yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Charles Borchard planned and carried out a surprise in her honor. Three tables were used for the guests to enjoy an afternoon of whist, prizes falling to Miss Anna Young and Mrs. Antone Borchard at the completion of the games, when a delectable collation was served to Mesdames Chas. Schmiedeberg, John Rudolph, George W. Young, George Lester, Charles Bevis, Horace Fine, Joseph Young, Helms, Fulton, the honoree, Mrs. Antone Borchard, and Misses Barbara and Bertha Klatt and Anna Young.

For Two Daughters

Mrs. Charles Kendall, Sr., was hostess yesterday afternoon at a Halloween card party for her two daughters, Mrs. Charles R. Kendall and Mrs. Harry L. Kendall, both recent brides.

Prizes were awarded at the close of the games of hearts to Mrs. Arnold Peek and Mrs. John Jacobs, Jr. Invited guests for the afternoon were: Mesdames Howard Timmons, Bertrand West, Henry Lockett, Adrian McCain, Arnold Peek, James Livesey, Jr., Nelson Edgar, Ray Atkinson, Robert Paine, Jr., Lester Tubbs, John Jacobs, Spencer Collins, Dick Whitson, Anthony Adams, Fred Stever, Otto Jacobs, and Misses Rena Cranston, Marjorie Olivarr, Marguerite White and Marvel Hammond.

Mrs. Kendall was assisted during the afternoon by Mrs. L. A. Collier and Mrs. Frank Horning.

Carnival Successful

The Auto Park was last night the scene of a merry carnival, when the Daughters of Veterans were hostesses, making the event both a social and financial success, the neat amount cleared to be used as a payment on their Victory Bonds.

Booths were arranged about the park and Daughters in their peaked orange and black caps, many autumn blossoms arranged about, the tooting of horns and glowing fires, over which coffee and hot dogs were prepared gave a truly Halloween aspect to the scene. Punch and candies were also sold.

An impromptu program of singing and music was in charge of the younger girls.

Elks Annual Roll Call

About two hundred and twenty-five Elks were present at the annual roll call Tuesday evening, when they were entertained by their own orchestra and J. D. Mathews, who has just returned from service. He was with the First Cavalry band.

Following the regular lodge meeting a banquet was enjoyed and the members further entertained by artists from Los Angeles.

PERSONALS

Miss Anne Robinson left Tuesday for Yuma, Ariz., to visit her friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Harper. She expects to be absent a month or six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Grubb are planning to leave in a few days for a trip of a month or six weeks by automobile, equipped for camping in the open. They will visit old friends at Santa Rosa and Corning, in which places they have lived. They propose to take their time on the trip, and as opportunity offers, Mr. Grubb will hunt quail, ducks and geese.

Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Dearing were morning passengers to Los Angeles.

Attorney C. N. Mozley and his wife and three sons, Norman, Don and Tod, have arrived here to make their home. They have been residing at Cape Girardeau, Mo. The family decided to come to California for the benefit of Mrs. Mozley's health. A number of Southern California cities were visited, and of them Santa Ana looked best to them. They have rented at the corner of Fourth and Parton. Norman Mozley was in France with the Marines. For a time he was detailed to special duty as an entertainer, being an excellent bass singer. Attorney Mozley will open an office soon.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Watson of 902 Orange avenue, who went to Nevada some four weeks ago to visit with Mr. Watson's parents, are sadly delayed on account of the death of his father. While in seeming good health he passed on suddenly while attending some business transactions. He was a miner and leaves some mining interests in different localities to be looked after. Mr. and Mrs. Watson's return is indefinite.

In her zeal to do all in her power for her loved ones, most mothers overwork and soon get in a nervous, run-down condition. Vinol, the non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, is exactly what she needs to build her up, make her strong and quiet her nerves.

Please be Convinced by this Positive Proof

Dukedom, Tenn. — "I was in a very nervous, run-down condition. I had no appetite and was so weak it seemed almost impossible to keep around and do the housework for my family. A friend told me about Vinol, and I could see an improvement after taking only one bottle, it built me up so rapidly." — Mrs. H. H. GOODWIN.

Dedham, Mass. — "I used Vinol for a run-down, weak, nervous condition. I was so weak at times I did not have the strength to do my housework, and could hardly keep around. My druggist recommended Vinol and after taking it for about one month it built me up so I felt stronger and better in every way." — Mrs. HARVEY M. HARDISON.

EDUCATORS MAP THRIFT COURSE FOR SCHOOLS

N. E. A. Head Urges the Need of Savings Study in Our Schools.

San Francisco, Cal.—Before the end of the year there will be established a standardized course in thrift and saving in every public school in the seven states of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District, according to plans worked out by the state superintendents of public instruction of the West in co-operation with the war loan organization. The superintendent of public instruction in each state will serve as state director of thrift education.

It is not at all unlikely that as a result of this move in the West to found a better American citizenship by the teaching and practice of thrift in the public schools that the idea will be taken up throughout the United States. In this connection, Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, state superintendent of public instruction for the state of Washington and president of the National Educational Association, has written as follows to each member of the executive committee of the association:

"Here in the West we are going to put in every public school a standardized course in thrift and attempt to teach it on a plane with the fundamentals of the common school branches. In the nature of a laboratory in connection with the course, savings societies will be organized in each school with the idea of making the course habit-forming.

"I cannot too strongly recommend to you as a member of the executive committee that every state in the Union take steps immediately to introduce similar courses in the curriculum of every public school in America. We have reached a danger point in the American social and economic structure and it lies with us who are charged with the public education of our citizens to undertake the responsibility of meeting not only the present crisis, but the vital need for permanent thrift as a national habit."

First available reports of savings work among school pupils this term come from the San Francisco schools through Philip J. Lawler, manager of the school savings department of the Bank of Italy, which is co-operating with the government. The report shows a total of $28,437.90 saved and invested in Thrift, War Savings and School Penny Stamps in 73 school days. The number of students investing was 65,149.

Within a short time Mr. Lawler said he would have a report on the work in 275 California schools which have an attendance of 90,000 school children. Of this total number of schools 174 are country schools.

"We must have the close co-operation of the newspapers of the West and of leaders of public opinion in this work of turning out better citizens," said Mrs. Preston. "We school superintendents, principals and teachers are undertaking this job because we think it is our job. However, it is every true American's job and we will need all the help and co-operation we can get."

Attending a conference called by Governor John U. Calkins of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco at which the decision to introduce the study of thrift to school curriculae were the following superintendents of public instruction:

W. J. Hunting, Nevada.
G. N. Child, Utah.
Mrs. Josephine Corliss Preston, Washington.
Miss Ethel E. Redfield, Idaho.
Will C. Wood, California.

Quirino Simbulan on his new job.

Catholic War Council School Makes Expert Mechanic Out of Filipino

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Of the Filipino boys who fought under Uncle Sam, Quirino Simbulan seemed most out of luck. When the Hun U-boat got the U. S. destroyer Jacob Jones, they picked him up for dead and three operations failed to get him back the use of knee and leg. He was of no more use as a sailor, and his old job in Manila didn't seem worth trying to get back. But the National Catholic War Council believes that every disabled fighter should be fitted for better work than ever before and it has a Rehabilitation School in Washington that is proving it. The school made an expert mechanic out of Quirino, just as it has turned out hundreds of such heroes—better workers than ever in their lives before.

GOING TO TAKE LOCAL CENSUS OF MEXICANS

A census of the Mexican population of Santa Ana is to be taken at once through the Santa Ana Board of Education.

This census is to be taken for the purpose of filling out blanks furnished by the State Housing Commission. The information will give the names and locations of all Mexicans, where they were born, how long they have been here, what they are doing and what they want to do, what living conditions are—these are some of the things to be determined.

City School Superintendent Cranston, who is head of the local Americanization movement, held a conference here yesterday with a representative of the state commission, and at that time it was decided that the census should be taken.

It is probable that the census of Mexicans will be taken at the same time that the census of minors that all schools are to take is taken.

JAP SHIP OPERATOR MUST FACE CHARGES

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30.—Coast shipping men believe a thorough investigation of alleged improper methods of wireless communication will result from charges now on file with the United States government involving the Japanese ship Siberia Maru.

The charges are that the radio operator on the Japanese ship refused to give up the air lanes, although an attempt was being made to get help or a disabled American ship—the reighter Diablo—in a stormy sea.

According to the log of the Matson liner Manoa, which had the Diablo in tow, the Siberia Maru for three days prevented the Manoa from communicating with San Francisco with distress messages.

The Manoa log includes: "It is a well known fact among operators and has been for years in most instances when a large Japanese ship is within a radius of 1000 miles of San Francisco that it is almost useless for any other trans-Pacific ship over 700 miles from San Francisco to try to get any of its business off. The Japanese operators do not worry about international rules and regulations. It is a 'dog in the manger' proposition with them."

E. D. Tenney, president of the Matson Navigation Company, who was on board the Manoa, has filed the charges.

LYCEUM COURSE WILL BE GIVEN THIS WINTER

Westminster People Desire to Keep Rev. Nakamura in Charge of Work

Contract is Being Signed Today, First Number to be Presented Soon

Santa Ana is to have a Lyceum Course this winter. That there would be a course was assured today when J. A. Baber, representing the Harry Minor Community Service, secured the consent of Col. S. H. Finley to head a committee of guarantors for the course.

Under arrangements being completed today, the course will open during November, probably within three weeks, and a number will be given each month thereafter until the entire course of seven numbers is given.

Fifteen guarantors are being signed today to the contract.

Tickets are to be sold for the entire course, which it is planned shall be given at Chime's Theater.

The seven numbers on the course are as follows:

Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, who distinguished himself in handling the great strike at Seattle; Edward Amherst Ott, noted commercial and industrial lecturer; Prof. S. H. Clark, the most popular speaker to teachers in America, of the University of Chicago; Zellner String Quartet, one of the finest musical organizations in the United States; Gay Zenola McLaren, famed New York reader and entertainer; Adrian News, educator, reader and entertainer, formerly with the University of Nebraska; Wormser's Alpine Singers, New York, originally from Switzerland, remarkable singers.

Rev. Nakamura was willing to go if it was thought best, even though he had suffered persecution when there before, from the Japanese Buddhists. The mission is to be part with Rev. and Mrs. Nakamura, and T. Terahata, T. Chino and C. M. Furuta pleaded very earnestly to have them remain as the mission has been brought into a very flourishing condition by the pastor and his wife.

Some of the work they have been doing was described. A summer school was held at Talbert attended by both old and young Japanese. The members of the Japanese association, both Buddhists and Christians, have voted to send their children to the mission Sunday schools.

Mrs. Nakamura has organized the women into a society. Recently a woman's institute was held for three days at the mission, for the purpose of teaching domestic science and the care of children. Much interest was shown in these meetings, the attendance increasing each day.

C. C. Johnson, moderator of the meeting, was instructed to present these matters to Dr. Sturge in hope that he would consent to have Rev. and Mrs. Nakamura remain in the work here.

T. Chino stated that Orange county had a large Japanese population approximating 2000, men, women and children, and that it was the desire of the mission to make an ideal Americanized Japanese community. He also said that Westminster was the center of the Japanese population in the county. The attendance at the mission is large and the interest increasing and the leaders object to a change as it has always let the work back for a time. The Westminster mission is federated with those of Talbert and Santa Ana.

PST! NOV. 11 IS REALLY LEGAL HOLIDAY

County Official's Feelings Verge on Jubilation as Wire Comes

For some time courthouse officials have been agitated over the question of whether or not November 11, Armistice Day, is a legal holiday.

Today these officials were calmer than for some days past, not to say jubilant.

For J. M. Backs received a telegram today from Frank C. Jordan, secretary of state, as follows:

"November 11 has been declared a legal holiday." Frank C. Jordan.

In a way Justice John B. Cox felt vindicated. For he had been firm in asserting that he had seen, in some paper—the Register, he thought it was that November 11 had been officially declared a legal lay-off day. He was sure he had seen a report from Sacramento to that effect, but couldn't for the life of him remember when it was that he had seen the notice.

Justice Cox even went so far as to take a Register reporter over the coals about the matter—mildly, of course, as is Cox's wont.

"I'm sure the announcement appeared in the Register," Cox told the reporter.

The newspaperman said he also had some sort of vague recollection of having seen the announcement, but wasn't quite sure.

"What kind of a reporter are you, if you don't even know what's in your paper?" queried the Justice, sharply.

The reporter had nothing to say.

To settle the question County Clerk Backs wired to Sacramento and the telegram received in reply today effectually puts to rest any doubt that may have existed in the matter.

And courthouse officials are calmer—not to say jubilant.

The man was taken to the county jail and later turned over to the San Diego authorities.

An automobile driven by Yamashita collided with one driven by Miss Lillian Emmett of Glorietta, at the corner of South Main and McFadden streets, late yesterday afternoon, according to City Motor Policeman Frank Stewart, who made an investigation. 'CATTLE MAN'S' WEALTH MYTH, IS CHARGE

Grocer Says he Was Victimized by "Baron" From Oklahoma

Claims made by a man describing himself as J. P. Churchill, to the effect that he was extremely wealthy and the owner of cattle ranches in Oklahoma and Kansas, in addition to being the father-in-law of a multimillionaire mine owner in Arizona and New Mexico, sounded plausible to George J. Beckman, groceryman of 841 East Washington avenue, and today Beckman is the possessor of two checks for $15 each, which have been returned to him from Oklahoma, unhonored.

According to the story told by Beckman at the office of the district attorney, Churchill was in Santa Ana for about a week, during the first part of this month. During this time, Beckman stated, Churchill, in company with a Santa Ana widow, to whom Churchill said he was engaged, was shown several properties in this city by a local real estate man.

Churchill came into Beckman's store and asked Beckman to cash a $15 check for him. Impressed by the man's bearing and appearance, Beckman cashed the check. Several days later Beckman cashed another check for Churchill. Still later Churchill desired Beckman to cash other checks for him but Beckman, becoming suspicious, refused.

It is said that several other men in Santa Ana besides Beckman cashed checks for Churchill.

Because of the expense that would be incurred through bringing witnesses here from the east, no complaint against Churchill was drawn up.

Freeman acted as captain of the degree team and had general charge of the initiation. Those initiated were:

Jeanie Goodrich, Lela M. Breeding, Charles G. Breeding, Edward E. Crowe, Ella R. Crowe, Mattie M. Kinney, John B. Stalker, Thomas D. Daniels, Oscar W. Larzelere, Silas O. Wheeler, Harold C. Loe, Violet Gore Palazzi, H. W. Warwick and Dwight Goodrich.

The initiatory work was exemplified by a degree team from Anaheim. Sixty-five members of the Anaheim lodge were in attendance last night, as well as twenty from the Orange lodge and forty from the local lodge.

Following the initiation the lodge's new officers, initiated Monday night, were installed by Supreme Chaplain Charlotte Rawlings of Los Angeles, Supreme Overseer Mrs. Atha K. Johnson, also of Los Angeles, acting as Chief Yeoman, assisted by Captain J. S. Freeman.

Another initiation will be held Wednesday evening. There are now 165 members in the local lodge and Freeman states that the Santa Ana Homestead is the most "promising" lodge which he has ever organized.

Among those who spoke last night was W. J. Elliott, of Sacramento, state manager of the lodge.

One hundred and sixty-five persons partook of refreshments, following the initiation ceremonies.

MAX HUBERMAN RANCH IS SOLD TO A. G. BLOM

The Max Huberman 80 acre tract north of El Modena has been sold to A. G. Blom, former resident of Anaheim. The property has been occupied recently by L. M. Doyle, cashier of the California National Bank, and family. It is prettily situated on the Santiago boulevard and probably is better known in this community as the old Hoyt Place.

There are ten acres of valencias and ten acres of lemons. A modern nine room house and outbuildings are located on the place. The consideration, it is understood, was $46,000. Mr. and Mrs. Blom will make their home there after the fifteenth of November. A portion of the vacant land will be prepared for planting, the hill property being used for pasture.

Property adjoining this recently has been leased for oil prospecting, and this is right in line with other leases that have been taken in that vicinity.

HASSLER PURCHASES EAST FIRST RANCH

A. E. Hassler, who recently sold his ranch holdings has re-invested, buying 7.21 acres from A. E. Bennett on East First street. The property is located east of the Robert Reid place on East First and near Tustin avenue. The consideration was $18,000. Carden and Liebigh handled this deal.

This firm reports the sale of the property at 1012 South Main street to F. R. Becker at a consideration approximating $5,000. The property has a frontage of 75 feet and contains two residences. It is changing hands for the first time in twenty-five years, the seller being B. G. Hawkins, a non-resident. The father of the seller was an old pioneer of the city, long since deceased, and has been held in the family for many years.

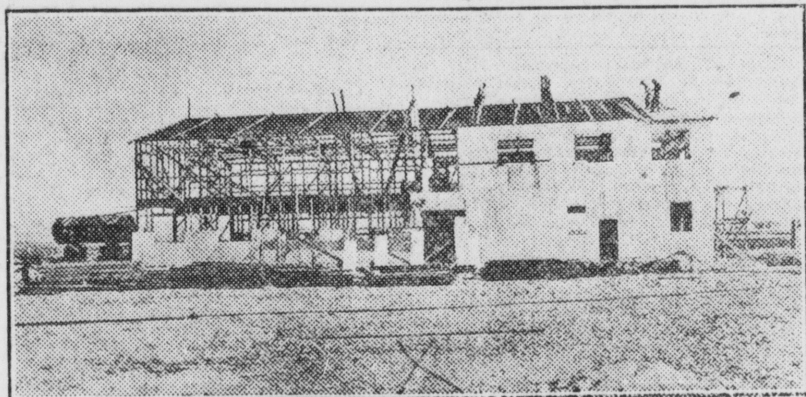

W. E. West has sold to Winn Donkins the residence at 1732 Valencia avenue, and West has purchased a lot on Spurgeon from R. L. Farnsworth, upon which he will build later.

WAGNER SELLS HOME ON SOUTH BROADWAY

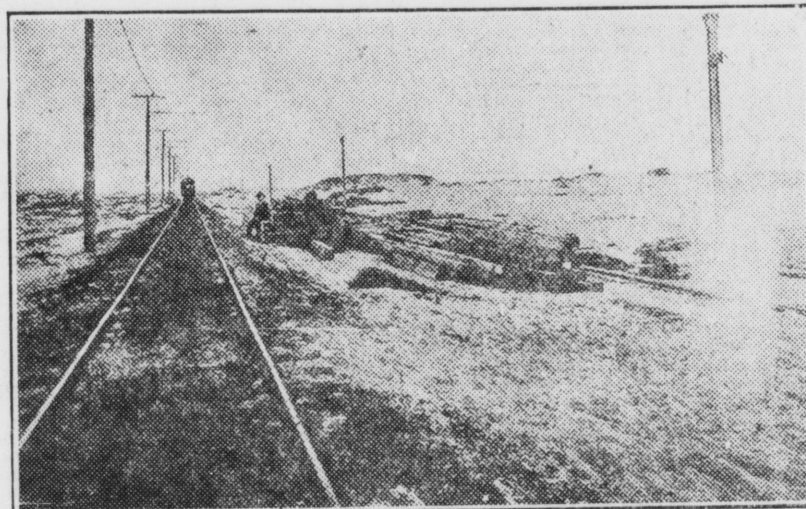

G. H. Christian, Maxwell agent, has purchased the home of F. J. Wagner at 818 South Broadway and will take possession Saturday. Household furniture is included in the deal, the consideration being $5,400. Mr. and Mrs. Wagner will move to the Kinslow apartments.

THE municipality of Newport Beach, which includes Newport, West Newport, East Newport, Balboa, Balboa Island and Newport Heights, starts off the after-the-war period with a grand total of building this year to date of approximately $55,000, at least a fourth of which is due directly to the harbor improvements which the city of Newport Beach has made. And there will be other harbor building before the year ends which will further swell this figure.

The new fish cannery plant of the Newport Packing Company, upon which work is now proceeding at a rapid rate, will cost, with building and equipment, from $25,000 to $30,000, but the building alone is to cost $12,000, according to a building permit issued by City Marshal J. A. Porter. L. J. Kelly of Long Beach is the contractor and he has a force of about ten workmen on the job.

Contractor S. A. Luke is in charge of the remodeling of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club house at East Newport, with a half dozen men at work. This permit calls for improvements to cost $4,500.

Also included in the year's building total are the following permits, which have already been executed. The figures given, it is said, are in some cases much less than the actual cost of the structures:

John L. Plummer, bungalow court at Balboa, ten houses, total, $5,000.

Miss Alice C. Plummer, residence on Heights, $4,000.

C. W. Leffingwell, Jr., owner, Butler Bros. of Los Angeles, builders, residence on bay front, Balboa, $4,000.

Elsherry W. Reynolds (publisher of Harold Bell Wright's books), two-story residence at Balboa, $1,500.

John Cubbon, owner, J. S. Fluor, builder, dwelling on Balboa Island, $1,800.

L. G. Swales, two bungalows at Balboa, $1,600.

George A. Barber, residence at Balboa, $1,500.

Mrs. Cora I. Decker, residence at East Newport, $1,200.

H. B. Tudor, "The Nu-Way" at Balboa, $1,200. Tudor also built four double apartments, erected seats and tables for picnickers and carried out other improvements.

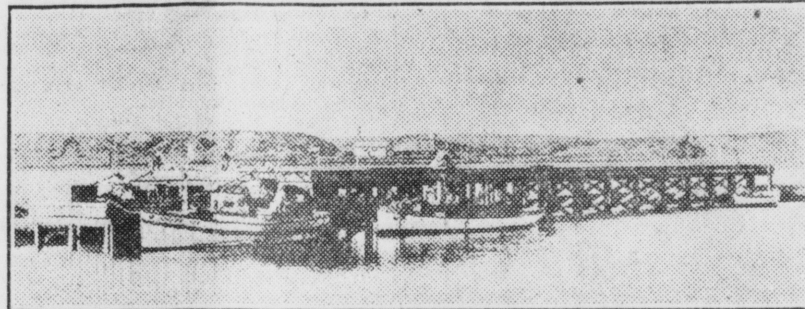

R. M. Groff, owner, A. W. Krum, builder, remodel Bay Island residence, $800.

Masonic Homes of California by G. V. Spencer, kitchen and dining room at camp ground on Island, $500.

L. H. Pembroke, frame house on Island, $400.

Newport-Balboa on Way to Be a Beach Winter Resort

After many years of being content with only a summer trade for three months out of the year, Newport-Balboa Beaches are this year for the first time stepping into the ranks of beach resorts catering to winter residents. As a result, more than a dozen families have taken winter homes there the past week and new ones are flocking to the beach every day to look for locations.

Tempered all the year 'round by Pacific breezes, the climate of Newport-Balboa is ideal, warmer in winter and cooler in summer than the inland regions, it is pointed out, and with this favorable argument in favor of their plan, beach leaders are now engaged in an intensive campaign to fill up their houses during the winter months.

There is an overflow population of several hundred people in Orange county who cannot secure homes in Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim and Fullerton, and through the co-operation of the inland districts, Newport-Balboa hopes to save these residents to Orange county by locating them in beach houses now vacant.

The word now being passed around that there are many fine winter homes available at the nearby beach community and each day sees new families located there, where they can enjoy Southern California weather during the winter months, with all the pleasures of beach and bay at their disposal, and at the same time be near friends and relatives already located in the county.

Wintering at the Beach
Not only eastern visitors, but home people as well, are just beginning to appreciate the delights of wintering at the beach, and already several Santa Ana families have moved either to Newport or Balboa, their former homes here being rented to visitors from the East. One of these is E. Rankin, foreman of the H. H. Dale paint shop, and family. Rankin, living in Santa Ana, had been forced to move by having the house sold from over him and also had experienced two or three raises in rent during a few months. He is now getting a nice home and at the same time beating the High Cost of Renting by taking the Gansert place at Fourth and Central, Balboa. He will take up his residence there.

dence there November 1 and come to his work in Santa Ana each day. The rental was made through the Wilson Realty Company of East Newport.

Easterners Find Homes

At least six families have secured winter homes in Balboa during the past week, being located by Florence E. Williams, real estate woman, of that place. Dr. and Mrs. Sutton of Santa Ana, take the Wilson house on Fernando street, moving in at once. Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Shoaf, recently from the East, have taken The Wascator for a year. Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Durkee, from Nebraska, and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Nutt, of Denver, are located at the Carlyle apartments on Central avenue for the winter, and the Irby family of Los Angeles, and P. R. Duckham and family are both at the Williams homes.

Chace and Alves of Balboa, S. Baker, McMillan and Irwin and Lew H. Wallace of Newport, have also assisted in placing several families, and there are still a number of comfortably furnished homes available for rental during the winter, which will undoubtedly be filled before many weeks have passed. People not yet located for the winter are advised to investigate the houses at Newport-Balboa while there are still a number of places to choose from.

RED LITERATURE HUNT IN SCHOOLS OF STATE

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 30.—An investigation in high schools to ascertain if "radical literature of the Bolshevik and Industrial Workers of the World type" had gained circulation among the students is requested in a letter sent by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of Public Instruction, to all high school principals and city superintendents in California.

Women wanted to peel pimientos. Apply at once, ready for work. Can make good wages. Cannery, East First street, at railroad. California Packing Corporation.

FINE HOMES ARE PLANNED FOR PALISADES

The march of progress is not only following the route through Newport and Balboa, but is also taking in the Balboa Palisades, on the bluff just south of the Newport Harbor entrance, and from all indications great things are in store for that district, as well as the rest of the bay region.

One of the first big home projects to be carried out there, it is reported, is the erection of a very beautiful home by Willits J. Hole, widely known oil man of Los Angeles, who, it is said, will build his place this winter. The cost of the structure is not definitely known but it is anticipated the Hole place will probably be the finest home along the shore line for many miles, and will be in a wonderful situation. One report is that the home will cost $20,000, but it may run well above this figure. Several other fine homes are in contemplation for the Palisades, and by the time the coast boulevard is completed through there the Palisades, it is anticipated, will be on its way to be one of the most beautiful, exclusive and renowned seaside home places on the California coast.

Need Road Around Bay

The F. D. Cornell Company, which owns the property, is now ready to proceed with its improvement plans which were interrupted by the war, and anticipates there will be great advancement in the months to come. One of the things needed to properly develop the bay region, Cornell believes, is a county boulevard around the head of Newport Bay, open the year round, from which a most beautiful view of the upper bay could be obtained and which could be utilized to good advantage, not only in ordinary travel, but in showing congressmen and others interested in harbor development the vast possibilities of Orange county's harbor, not possible over the present roadway, which is impossible at some season of the year.

NEWPORT, OLD-TIME SHIPPING CENTER, TAKES ON NEW LIFE, PREPARES FOR BIG BUSINESS

TABLE ACHIEVEMENTS IN THE PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY OF ORANGE COUNTY—"NATURE'S PROLIFIC WONDERLAND."

TWENTY-FIVE years ago Newport was one of the important ocean shipping points in Southern California, with an average of two freight and passenger vessels calling there daily. Old-timers remember seeing as many as a dozen ships there at one time, too many to be accommodated at the long wharf. Later the old wharf was condemned for shipping purposes, business was shifted to other ports, and for the past several years there has been no commercial shipping at Newport. But now things are changing, and through the efforts of Newport Beach and Orange county people, Newport Harbor is about to regain its place on the nautical map. A real harbor is now in the making right at our door. This is a "Notable Achievement" of the present, in the execution of which all of Orange county is taking a part.

NEWPORT HARBOR, the dream of a generation, is about to come true. Long talked over and written about, our harbor is already mocking those who said "It can't be done." It can be done, it is being done, and in the future even the most optimistic, I venture, will be surprised at the rapidity with which the project will be developed.

Less than six months ago the City of Newport Beach finished spending a quarter of a million dollars on her harbor jetty and channels, and less than five months ago—on June 10—Orange county voted a half million dollar bond issue for harbor improvements. Yet today, before any part of the county bond work has been begun, a $50,000 fish cannery is being erected at Newport, two wholesale fish markets are under construction with several others in prospect, and several other industrial projects, directly due to the small harbor work that has been done, are about to be carried out.

Only those who have visited Newport Beach in recent days and inspected the work which is being done can appreciate its importance. From a distance, autoists see a large two-story structure going up, with seven or eight men at work, and wonder what it is. They see workmen busy at another distant point, and give it no further thought.

But here's the situation. The two-story building being erected is the fish cannery of the Newport Packing Company, 50 feet wide and 120 feet long. The building permit calls for a structure costing $12,000 but the total investment in land, building, and equipment will be approximately $50,000, and there's no stock for sale. When the plant is put in operation about the first of the new year, employment will be given to from fifty to 150 people, mostly women and girls, and the capacity will be about 300 cases of canned fish per day with from 48 to 96 cans in the case.

To Keep Several Boats Busy
In addition to people employed in the cannery, this industrial project will keep at least six or eight large fishing boats busy every day supplying it with fish, and these boats will give employment to fifteen or twenty men, mostly heads of families, all of whom will have to have homes at Newport. In addition, a market will be provided for catches made by independent fishermen not connected permanently with the cannery. In the winter, a fine quality of kippered sardine will be canned, and in the summer season vast quantities of tuna and albacore will be put up. In addition to the regular boats, it is likely that some large purse sein boats will be brought down from the Puget Sound district during the tuna season.

Captain J. W. Marr, builder of the Pure Food cannery at Long Beach and inventor of the "Split Kipper" method of packing sardines, is president and general manager of the new factory, the first industry brought to Orange county by the harbor improvements. L. Brady, now of Santa Ana, is vice president, and M. L. Lowman, now living in Santa Ana, is secretary. L. M. Wheaton, former mayor of Long Beach, is a member of the board of directors and attorney for the company.

"Pave everything," is the beach slogan, and before many years it appears likely every thoroughfare in the city will have its surface layer of concrete and asphalt, open to automobile traffic in any kind of weather.

Finest Location Ever
"This is the finest location in the country for a fish cannery," said Captain Marr today, "and we were attracted here only by the advantages and facilities offered a business of this kind. I'm not saying that all of the twenty-five fish canneries of the Long Beach-San Pedro district will move here, but the Booth company from Monterey and the Van Camps from San Pedro have been looking over the Newport prospects, and I would not be surprised to see several additional canneries established here."

"Why is this the best location? I'll tell you. Eighty per cent of the sardines packed at San Pedro are caught to the south and southwest of Newport Beach, the best tuna fishing grounds are between here and the islands, and some of the first tuna are caught off San Juan and Oceanside. Newport is the closest point to the fishing grounds and now that a safe entrance and adequate harbor channels are provided, this is the logical point for such industries. In the past, many San Pedro boats have made light catches of fish off Newport, and these spoiled while the boat was waiting to complete the catch. When our plant gets to going, the boats can run in

CONTRACT IS LET FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDING
ANAHEIM, Oct. 30.—The board of grammar school trustees has let the contract for the erection of the new school buildings to A. L. Gribbling of Los Angeles for the sum of $103,494. This bid was approximately $7000 less than the next lowest bid in a total of five proposals.

The successful bidder's price was also the only one of the five to come within the estimate of the school board's architect. The board feared at one time that the bids would all be above the estimate, and this would have required re-advertising, as the estimate reached the limit of the fund set aside for building.

REAL HARBOR IS UNDER WAY AT NEWPORT

Outside Capital Becoming Interested, Industrial Projects Being Planned

here within a couple of hours, discharge their light catch so it can be packed while fresh, and then go out after more."

Captain MATT, who has had several years of practical experience in the fish canning industry, has just bought the Sherman house on 27th street, Newport, and will move his family there at once to reside permanently. There are 2000 fishing boats in Southern California, Marr said, and even the addition of twenty-five to the Newport fleet would add a considerable number of people to Newport's permanent population.

Fish Fertilizer Plant

In every factory there are waste products, and the parts of fish which cannot be canned will be waste, so far as the cannery is concerned. This material, including the heads, fins, entrails, etc., will be made useful to humanity through being converted into fertilizer. T. A. Blakeley of San Bernardino has bought three lots on the channel near the fish cannery and will begin work very soon upon the construction of his fish fertilizer plant, which it is expected, will have a capacity of forty tons a day. This factory will employ several men and help to establish Newport as a pay-roll town.

Syndicate Improvements

At the end of the channel back of Newport, a syndicate of a dozen Newport men own a considerable block of property, and have already spent many thousands of dollars for improving it as industrial property. Three streets running from the channel to Central avenue have now been paved, opening the tract, and several thousand dollars are now being spent in the construction of a long dock, which will be devoted to wholesale fish markets, fish being landed from the boat onto the dock, then cleaned and packed, and transferred on the other side of the building to trucks or express cars.

A picture of the dock from the channel side, and another from the main floor showing construction work in progress, is shown on the first page of this section of the Register. The dock is sixteen feet wide, the markets themselves will be sixty feet wide, and the landing platform is ten feet wide. A two-story building, fifty feet by sixty feet, is now being erected, to house two markets, and the market building will be extended the full length of the dock as the business increases.

J. P. Horman of Santa Monica has already leased one of the markets. Also, he has bought two channel lots from John Markwalter, and expects to put up a plant where dried, smoked, and salted fish will be prepared for market.

Other Beach Improvements

Several other improvement projects are maturing.

One man has bought three channel lots near Twentieth street and will put up a fish supply house, where nets and other fishing paraphernalia will be kept on hand to supply fishing craft.

B. K. Stone of San Gabriel, owner of the Parker block, it is said, plans to remodel this property in the near future, to prepare for the era of prosperity which is just beginning.

McMillan & Irwin have bought 75 feet on Central avenue near the Newport garage, where they will erect a store room.

General Progress Notes

A contract has just been let for a $226,000 modern sewer system to cover Newport, West and East Newport and Balboa, under a ten-year assessment plan.

Extension of the lighting system is being considered. Maps for putting the house-numbers in systematic order are prepared and the new numbers are available at the Newport city hall for all who call.

John Plummer, who put up ten cottages at Balboa this year, is figuring on erecting several more before next summer.

About fifty new gas connections were made during the past year.

A new four-inch gas main has just been laid to Newport Beach, which will provide adequate fuel facilities for the new industrial plants.

New boats entering Newport Harbor the past year to make their home are assessed at $5300 and will pay about $82.50 in taxes into the city treasury.

H. Holloway, now of 401 East Washington avenue, Santa Ana, has decided to locate in Newport and will open a shoe repair shop there within a fortnight. He is from Coleman, Texas.

Several carloads of material are now at the new mouth of the Santa Ana river, and work of driving piling for spur tracks, from which rock for the jetties will be dumped, is to start at once.

A local investment company has bought 17 lots in the new industrial district and will grade and sidewalk them at once.

Plans for a concrete pleasure pier at Balboa are being considered. Also, there is talk of a new tourist hotel there, but no definite action, so far as known, has yet been taken.

The Wilson Bros. Company of Balboa had so much business they couldn't take care of it properly, so recently incorporated and interested new capital in order to expand with the town.

Newport and Balboa are sure coming to the front and "Watch Us Grow" is to be their slogan in the months to come.

NATIVE SONS CALL ANTI-JAP MEETING

Each of the fifty-two state societies in Los Angeles has been invited to send a representative to the assembly in Ramona Hall, 349 South Hill street. $35,000 GARAGE SLABAUGH SNAPS UP BARGAIN IN CITRUS RANCH

Lillian Yaeger Starts Erection Of Two Story Structure

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—Ground has been broken for a magnificent garage which will cost approximately $35,000, which will be the handsomest, best appointed and largest exclusive garage between Los Angeles and San Diego, and is the greatest addition to the industrial district of Fullerton for years past.

The garage is being constructed for Miss Lillian Yaeger at the corner of Spadra and Chapman avenues and is expected to be completed within three months.

The building will be the shape of a letter "L" and two stories in height, constructed of hollow tile. The whole will have a floor space of 10,000 feet.

It will have a frontage of 80 feet on Chapman avenue and 36 feet on Spadra. In the vacant space between the two points of the "L" is the oil station, which is built diagonally across the corner.

The lower floor will be used as a storage and stock room, parking space for autos, offices, rest rooms, and every comfort and convenience known to the trade.

The wing fronting on Spadra will be the sales and display room, Miss Yaeger having the agency for autos and trucks and also handles everything used in the auto trade.

The second floor, which will be reached by an incline instead of an elevator, will be the machine shops and work rooms, which will be fitted with all the modern machinery now in use in the repairing, rebuilding and remodeling of cars.

Frank K. Benchley is the architect, he drawing the plans for this magnificent structure and the work of construction is being carried on under his personal supervision.

There are many fine and commodious garages in Orange county, but when this building is completed Fullerton will have by far the largest

YOU SHOULD READ ADVERTISEMENTS for YOUR OWN PROFIT

There was a time, when you had to take some advertisements with a grain of salt. That was because a few advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have either gone out of business or mended their ways, long ago. They learned by hard experience that it did not pay.

There were other advertisers who proved that the only way to advertise successfully and make regular customers and build good-will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods in their advertisements.

Today, practically all advertisers are of too high a character to permit an untruth to appear over their names.

When a company advertises to you, it is trying to get you for a permanent customer. It has goods that it is sure will be of real value to you. It tells you the truth about these goods.

To learn the facts about the things you need to make you a useful, comfortable and happy citizen, learn them by reading the advertisements.

JUNIORS ARE TO HAVE CAMPAIGN TO ENROLL MEMBERS

Drive to Start Next Week for Local Red Cross Organization

Next week, Red Cross week, is to be membership week not only for the "seniors" but also for the Junior Red Cross.

While the chapter has organized for the roll call for $1 memberships, plans have also been made for a campaign through the school children for memberships for the Juniors. The Junior organization has a membership fee of 25 cents a year, and the campaign for getting a 100 per cent Junior membership through the schools is to begin Monday morning and is to continue until November 11, which is Armistice Day.

Miss Hazel Bemus, chairman of the Junior Red Cross for Santa Ana chapter, has arranged for the membership campaign to be carried on in the thirty-four schools within the jurisdiction of the chapter. This Junior organization stands in Junior war records of the Pacific coast as a marvelous organization, and it is the hope of the Juniors to make a peace record that shall distinguish it also.

While the Junior organizations are to be designated by schools and the work is to be done through these organizations, any person outside of school may become a Junior member by paying dues to the Junior organization at the nearest school.

The Juniors have a program for the coming year that is to be of great value in impressing upon the minds of the children lessons of thrift and helpfulness. Unselfishness and a desire to help the helpless are attributes of the Junior peace program.

CAFE SQUABBLE RESTRAINING ORDER OUT

A temporary restraining order, which was issued by Superior Judge Williams, and which was on file today, was directed at Mary Ziegler, proprietress of a hotel adjoining the Oyster Loaf Cafe, 174 West Center street, Anaheim, and will enjoin her from closing up a passageway connecting the hotel with the cafe.

The order which was issued in connection with a suit brought Monday by Trefon Harrison and Bill Gathas, proprietors of the cafe, will be effective pending a hearing on an order October 31, for Mrs. Ziegler to show cause why an injunction should not be issued which would restrain her from closing up the passageway in question.

Harrison and Gathas in their complaint, which was filed through Attorney Ernest B. Gail of Los Angeles, declared that if Mrs. Ziegler carries out her alleged intention of closing up the passageway they would suffer inestimable damages. The plaintiffs declared that without the existence of the passageway a lease they hold on the cafe property would be valueless.

EXPERT ARRIVES FOR ANNUAL FROST FIGHT

POMONA, Oct. 30.—F. D. Young, government frost specialist, who has been in Pomona for the last two seasons conducting experiments which have been of great value to the orange growers, is expected to arrive within a few days to spend the coming winter in this section. Young will be in charge of the government work done in co-operation with the growers to prevent damage to the orange and lemon crop of the Pomona Valley. Last winter he gathered a large amount of data and prepared many sets of charts from the observations. In a dispatch from San Francisco announcing that he was leaving the northern coast for Southern California, the statement is made that Young is prepared to show that frost is more liable to come near to the ground than at the tops of the trees, and that the government expects to reduce the loss of fruit by freezing to a minimum this winter.

Five thousand American doughboys are on their way over the Atlantic just now and will take up the work of keeping the Germans on their good behavior where the other troops leave off. The new force is made up of practically new men who have been recruited into the regular army since the fighting ended.

ASSOCIATED CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE APPROVE PLANS TO EXTEND COUNTY SYSTEM

WITH the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county authorizing the Board of Supervisors to appoint a Highway Commission to investigate and determine roads in the county that should be paved in extending the magnificent system of improved roads and to estimate the cost of such improvements, plans today are under way for submitting to the voters of Orange county a second bond issue for good roads. Sentiment at the meeting in Anaheim last night was unanimous in favor of the project.

T. B. Talbert, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, opened the discussion, stating that the Supervisors found themselves more or less handicapped in meeting the demands for more improved roads in various districts and had come to the conclusion that the only way in which such demands could be met was with another bond issue. Decision was made to feel the pulse of the public through the county organization and Chambers of Commerce.

"We are the servants of the people, and we want to know whether or not they want to extend the system through a county bond issue," he declared.

Carl E. McStay, field secretary of the Automobile Club of Southern California, spoke as the representative of 1200 members of the club in Orange county and not for the club.

"There is just one question that will be uppermost in the minds of the taxpayers," said McStay, "and that question is, what will the cost be? Have you one taxpayer present who can say that the present system of fine roads in this county ever cost him one cent? You have not. The roads have cost the taxpayer nothing. The road tax before the good roads were instituted was 40 cents on the $100. Several years ago when you bounced through ruts in dirt roads and were smothered with dust, you paid the same rate. The taxpayers have paid nothing."

Value Is Demonstrated
"You have demonstrated the value of good roads—it should not be hard to determine whether you want to vote another issue and extend your system."

He made comparisons in other counties showing that under the improved roads the rates of taxation had not been increased, and that Los Angeles had decreased its rate from 65 to 45 cents.

"Tulare is the only county in the state that is anything like a competitor of Orange county in the character and extent of its system, and there has been no increase in the tax rate."

"If you call upon the supervisors to vote another bond issue, we extend to you the services of our association—the support and services of our 1200 members in this county. We will help you in your campaign—we will carry your financial burden in this respect. We will foot the bills. We will supply publicity. We will place our expert publicists at your disposal."

"We want more good roads in Southern California. Settlers are coming to California in automobiles now instead of by train. On a trip to the Grand Canyon, and from which I returned yesterday, I met hundreds of out-of-state cars coming to Southern California. Between Barstow and Needles I counted 109 machines coming this way, coming from twenty-six different states. We saw these out-of-state cars in every place we passed through."

Valuable Advertisement
A. B. Rousseau, just returned from an extensive tour of the United States, emphasized the importance of good roads, stating that the good roads of Southern California were commented on by everyone with whom he discussed Southern California while on the trip. They have been a valuable advertisement for the Southland.

Supervisor Talbert called attention to the assessed valuation of Orange county and stated that a $2,000,000 bond issue would require a tax of 17½ cents on the $100, and with this the county still would have the lowest tax rate of any county in the state. The assessed valuation has more than doubled since 1913.

H. A. Lake of Garden Grove stated that his community had recently been discussing the matter of more improved roads, and that sentiment was decidedly against the plan of forming a district for the building of highways.

"We are unanimously in favor of more good roads and against the creation of road districts," is the way he put it.

Chas. Eygabroad, financier of Anaheim, asked Supervisor Talbert if it wasn't a fact that if more good roads were built under a $2,000,000 bond issue with a tax rate of 17½ cents for the bonds, the county road tax would not be reduced that much or more, by reason of the less expense of maintenance of the county roads. Talbert answered that in his opinion it would.

Everett White of Santa Ana suggested that a committee be appointed from each district to investigate and designate roads that should be improved, formulate plans and report to the supervisors.

McStay suggested that the supervisors appoint a highway commission and that these committees consult with and report to such commission.

Concrete action resulted from the discussion when Lew H. Wallace of Victory account

for Fathers and Mothers

What will be the future of that boy or girl?

Some day they are going to be grown up.

Naturally you want them to be able to take advantage of the opportunities to enter business that are usually missed through lack of capital.

IN other words, you want them to start out in life with a good financial backing.

How can it be done?

The VICTORY ACCOUNT is the answer.

In ten years from now you will be able to present your boy or girl with $1000 if you deposit $7.67 in this Bank each month.

And if you should die in the meantime this Bank would call upon the Insurance Company for enough money to increase your VICTORY ACCOUNT to $1000.

Here's a suggestion:

Supposing you have a son. Open a VICTORY ACCOUNT for him and have the insurance on your life. You make the deposits until he is earning money and then insist upon him keeping up either a part or all of the deposits.

Sane saving is fine discipline.

It gives boys and girls the special training in economy and thrift that is usually so lacking.

Start TODAY!

Then instead of having to plod along with the "crowd" your boy or girl will have a chance to be in the lead.

And the VICTORY ACCOUNT will have done it.

Think it over.

Be Young for Your Years

You were taught at school that your body undergoes a complete change of structure every seven years.

This tearing down and building up process of body tissue continues without a moment's pause throughout life.

And when a man gets into a physical condition that the tissues keep breaking down and wasting away faster than Nature can replace them, right then he begins to grow "old".

This doesn't necessarily mean, however, that he has reached an advanced age. Thousands upon thousands of people begin to break down, their vital organs giving evidence of fast approaching decay, long before they reach middle age simply because they fail to give Nature, at the proper time, the needed help to rebuild.

If you are beginning to show the slightest sign of a physical "let-down"—if you are losing your old time "pep" vim and vigor—if high tension energy and nervous strain are beginning to tell on you—it's a sure sign that you are growing "old"—too old for your years. You've reached that stage where your vital forces need rebuilding. Don't make the serious mistake of postponing until too late the assistance Nature requires; commence today to take

MILK, EGGS, MEAT PLENTIFUL IN SIBERIA

Santa Ana Woman Engaged In Nursing Writes of Conditions There

Milk, butter, eggs and meat are plentiful at Tomsk, Siberia, but fruit is an unknown quantity, according to Miss Reba Dobson, daughter of Dr. G. H. Dobson. Miss Dobson is one of five American nurses at the big hospital at Tomsk, and she says the Russian women are fine girls and splendid helpers. Miss Edna Jahraus, of Traverse City, Iowa, a niece of Elmer E. Jahraus of Laguna Beach, is one of the nurses there.

Concerning typhus there, Miss Dobson says:

"Typhus is an interesting disease and not a bit like typhoid fever, except a high fever. Temperature runs between 103 and 104 for from nine to fourteen days. Patients have their crisis or lysis. If lysis it takes about three days for the temperature to drop to normal. Then they are in a state of collapse and if you can keep the heart stimulated, alright; if not—"

"It is terribly severe on the system. They have all the nervous symptoms of spinal meningitis and a heart like double pneumonia, delirious, talking incessantly and an insane desire to jump out of windows, so we have to watch them very closely, as we are on the third floor. There isn't much treatment—tub baths twice a day, an ice cap to the head all the time and stimulants. The only way typhus is contracted is by the bite of a certain kind of body louse.

"The minute the temperature drops to normal they can have anything and everything to eat, including sour things and fruit juices. They give lots of camp. Oh hypo during the crisis, these following caffeine and black coffee. They have appetites like typhoid.

Not Settled Yet.

"We are not settled here yet. We have to use army cots, with boxes and trunks for tables and burning candles for light. The building has electric lights but they are on only from 9 to 11. We are in one of the university buildings and it is beautiful. The University of Siberia is here.

"Tomsk is the nicest, cleanest and most beautiful city I have seen in Siberia, and I have seen all of the largest and a good many of the smaller cities. Tomsk is in a birch woods, and a little hilly. We are on top of the hill and we have a beautiful view of the city and river. They have very nice parks here and very good music—some every evening.

"We are expecting to start a 2000-bed hospital here if we can make satisfactory arrangements.

"It is almost impossible to buy anything in Siberia. The stores are mostly all closed, and those that are running have only a small stock. The shelves in dry goods stores are bare. There is plenty of milk, eggs, butter and meat. Occasionally we find a lemon or two on the market and they sell from 30 to 40 roubles each, never other kinds of fruit and very few vegetables. We live on canned goods mostly.

"We have very little darkness here, although the nights are getting longer. It gets dark now about 1:30 and morning breaks about 3:30.

"We American nurses are to be supervising nurses only. One is to have the operating room and the rest the different floors. The Russian nurses we have are very nice girls and women, from the best Russian families. Three speak very good English. They are so nice in offering to help."

HAS CHANGE OF HEART; WILL BUILD NEW HOME

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—Mrs. Lucy Ortega of Placencia, has been desirous of making Fullerton her home for sometime past, but was unable to secure a suitable home until she purchased the residence of F. W. Woods on North Pomona avenue, in the Library Block, which is one of the most desirable locations for a home in the city.

Mr. Woods owns considerable property at Long Beach and has a son who is in business there. He put his property on the market expecting to sell his interests here and build a home for himself and family at Long Beach.

After Mrs. Ortega had made a deposit on the property, Mr. and Mrs. Woods decided that they would rather live in Fullerton than any other place they know of and were sorry that they put their property on the market, but they would not go back on their word and let the deal go through.

Mr. Wood immediately purchased a lot on West Commonwealth and is today scouting around looking for a contractor to build a home in order that they will not have to leave Fullerton.

REALTY IS ACTIVE IN TOWN OF BREA

BREA, Oct. 30.—The lot known as the George Casey lot, on Pomona avenue, and the only unimproved lot in the block, has been sold to Philip B. Pettit, now on Madrone avenue. Mr. Pettit will build a modern bungalow. The C. W. Reeve home on West Cedar street has been sold to Gunnar Liljehang, who is in the employ of the Union Oil Co., now living near the Brea refinery.

Mrs. Ella S. Kellogg has bought a lot on South Orange street. To this lot she expects to move the two cottages from her business lot on Pomona avenue.

Whether or not Kit S. Connolly was afraid he would be dispossessed he has bought the property he is now living in from P. C. Huddleston.

ISSUE OF GOOD ROAD BONDS ENDORSED

Associated Chambers of Commerce Approve Plans for Larger System

Newport Beach offered a motion that the Board of Supervisors appoint a highway commission to investigate and determine and recommend a bond issue of sufficient size to provide a great number of laterals, the new roads to be constructed in sufficient strength to carry the heavy traffic of today and the future. The motion carried unanimously.

Others Give Views

Before the motion was finally put, C. L. Cummie of La Habra and Mac Robbins of Santa Ana expressed their views. Cummie said that his district did not need more roads, that a district had been formed, and he wanted to know if there was any way by which the obligations of the district could be assumed in case of a bond issue. He vouched for full support for the bonds by the voters of La Habra.

Robbins referred to the "beautiful" stretch of highway on North Main street, which probably will be improved at the entire expense of the property owners, and that he did not expect the county to reimburse the owners for the expense of replacing what the county had worn out. He assured the assembly that Santa Ana would back a bond issue.

The Associated Chambers is fully representative of the entire county and its endorsement of the movement to extend the system is equivalent to approval by all the chambers and improvement associations of the county. The supervisors will act at once so that no delay will be occasioned in getting at the amount of bonds to be voted and the roads that should be improved. The committees from the districts will be chosen by each district, in a manner to be determined by each district.

LOCAL SCHOOLS PLAN FOR GOOD ENGLISH WEEK

"Watch My Speech" is to be Slogan for Students Nov. 1 to Nov. 8

Throughout the schools of Santa Ana particular attention is to be paid to Better English Week, November 1 to November 8.

"Watch My Speech" is to be a slogan. Various methods are to be used to impress upon the minds of pupils of every grade from the kindergarten up through to and including the seniors of the Junior College that it is well to use good English.

The week has been set apart in many schools throughout the country for the purpose of emphasizing the importance of good English.

Miss Wyant, head of the English department at Santa Ana high school, is arranging a number of Good English Week features.

The Generator, the student body publication, is to be devoted to the cause. On Thursday morning of next week a high school assembly is to be conducted as a Good English assembly. Posters are to be distributed, and a list of errors most frequently encountered by those who endeavor to teach students the proper use of language is to be published. Students are to wear tags bearing the slogan, "Watch My Speech." An effort will be made to carry the campaign to the home. Any person who desires to help in the campaign may wear a tag.

ISSUE WARNING ABOUT USE OF SACCHARIN

Difference Between Sugar and Supposed Substitute Is Pointed Out

The use of saccharin in place of sugar, which many housewives are being tempted to resort to in the days of sugar shortage, may involve menace to the health, and therefore is to be condemned, according to specialists in the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. In most cases housewives have turned to this substance in their emergency, because they do not understand that saccharin is a harmful drug; to consider it a harmless, healthful substitute for sugar is absolutely false, say the government's chemists.

The Department of Agriculture has received a number of inquiries from housewives in the last few days concerning the properties of saccharin, and in every case it has answered by condemning the use of the drug for cooking purposes. It points attention to the fact that the Bureau of Chemistry is now aiding in the prosecution of a large St. Louis concern which makes saccharin for violation of the Food and Drugs Act.

"The attempt to exploit the shortage of sugar and create a demand for saccharin for use in place of sugar endeavors to capitalize the public's lack of knowledge of the properties of this substance and the Bureau of Chemistry feels called upon to reiterate the warnings which it has given repeatedly in its publications," said Carl L. Alsberg, chief of the bureau, who cites his testimony before a subcommittee of the senate's committee on agriculture a few days ago, on this same subject, as showing the extent of the present menace due to the public's not being properly informed.

"The department regards the use of saccharin in food as a menace to health," says Dr. Alsberg. "This is the position of the department today as it was in 1911, when official decisions were rendered. There has been no scientific evidence adduced on the basis of which the department would be justified in any manner in altering its position.

"The department regards food to which saccharin has been added as adulterated, since a substance has been added to the food which may render it deleterious to health. It also regards it as adulterated in that a substance of no food value whatever has been substituted for sugar, a very valuable food. The department has now pending a criminal prosecution against one concern for the shipment interstate of a parcel of saccharin labeled as harmless. Furthermore, a majority of the states prohibit the use of saccharin in food, either by statute or by regulation."

ANOTHER GUSHER IN FULLERTON OIL FIELD

Five Thousand Barrel Producer Brought in on the Thompson Property

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—Another gusher was added to the already large number of oil wells of the Fullerton field, when the General Petroleum well on the Thompson property was brought in and it is estimated that it is at least a 5000-barrel gusher.

Some ten days ago, while the drillers were working on this well, oil and sand commenced flowing over the top. The well was immediately capped, as the men were not ready to handle a gusher and were not looking for it to start gushing at that time, they being taken somewhat by surprise.

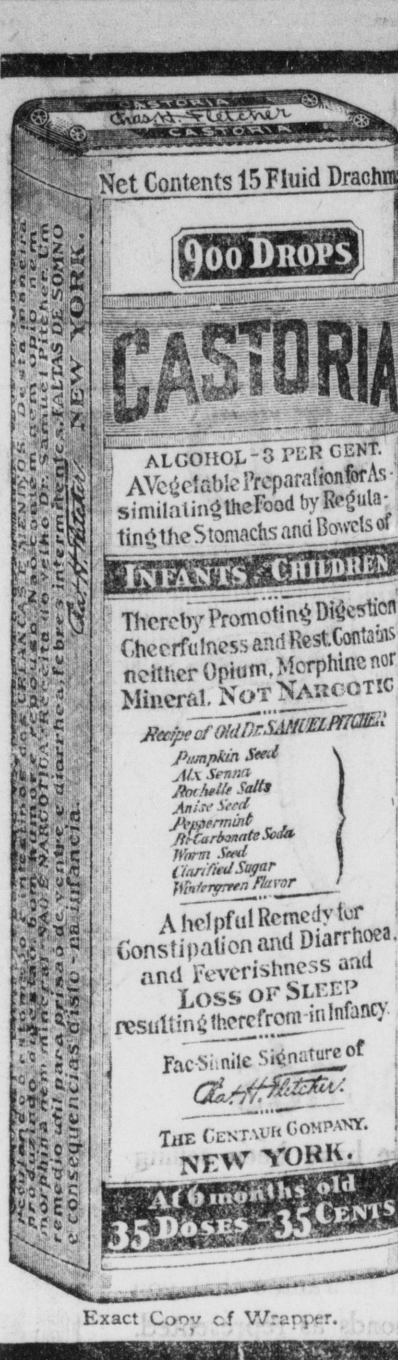

Since that time tanks were erected and preparations made to handle the oil. Work of baling the well started Friday with the result that the well came in yesterday morning and the indications are that it will equal, if not surpass, the famous Chapman gusher.

When the news of the bringing in of this well spread there was a rush of oil men to the scene, a large number going out from Fullerton.

This latest gusher has stimulated activity in the oil field of the district adjacent to the well and the hopes of many who have wells under way was raised to a high pitch.

CROSS-COMPLAINT IN WEINDORF SUIT FILED

In an answer and cross-complaint filed through Attorneys Eden and Koepsel today, Carl Weindorf, against whom his wife, formerly Miss Vera Shoemaker of this city, filed a suit for separate maintenance on August 30, alleges that instead of his having deserted her in January of the present year, she left him on February 8, of this year. In her suit Mrs. Weindorf asked $35 per month for the support of her child, not yet two years old. In the answer filed today, Weindorf charges his wife with familiarity with other men. He denies that he earns $35 per week, as she had alleged, and asks the court to dissolve the bonds of matrimony between him and his wife. He also asks that the court release him from all obligations with reference to the support and maintenance of the child. Clyde Bishop is attorney for Mrs. Weindorf, who now lives in Los Angeles.

DIRECTOR SAYS EXPERIENCES IN IMPURE SEEDS ARE MENACE T. B. TESTING OUTLINED

Hecke Enters Strong Plea For Care In Starting Planting Right

BY G. H. HECKE
(Director of Agriculture for Calif.)
Although the countries of the world have turned to the more peaceful pursuits, interrupted by the great war, we must not be deluded into thinking that this is the time for any slackening up in our agricultural activities.

The American farmer today is the most commanding figure for he is standing alone of all the industries between starvation and the millions. One of the great sources of loss to the farmer, and one too that is difficult to reckon in standards of money, is the single item of "impure seeds."

"Impure seeds" work to disadvantage in many ways:
1. They may disseminate noxious plant diseases.
2. They may carry the seeds of unwelcome and dangerous weeds.
3. They may not be true to name, variety or germinating quality.
4. They cause loss through the admixture of worthless trash to give them bulk and weight.
5. Through inferior varieties the valuable strains of a given plant, which have won reputations for certain localities, may be broken down and destroyed through cross-pollination.

This single item alone has awakened the British government in Egypt to the need of more rigid regulation respecting the growing of cotton. It has now been determined, after a careful investigation, that the qualities which made Egyptian cotton world famous were in jeopardy through cross-pollination in the field and through careless mixing at the gineries with inferior varieties.

The assimilation and breaking down of any valuable strain in plant life may be accomplished after this manner.

It is true that we are concerned with producing big crops but we must apply the sterling motif that is the keyword of the State Department of Agriculture today, as it was of the horticultural commission of the past, and put forth our best efforts that we will not only produce the finest products, but we will seek to maintain the acknowledged standards by such common sense and adequate means as are available.

Thus farmers and growers should give due attention to the importance and factors involved in the maintenance of strains and the co-operation of growers is necessary in preserving the purity of desirable types.

It has been demonstrated that the period of life of any valuable commercial variety is not long, owing to the fact that the characteristic qualities which go to make up its value are usually rapidly broken down by cross-fertilization in the field and by careless admixtures of impure and adulterated seeds.

The future of agriculture is large; the necessity for renewed and increased production to feed Europe, the Orient and our own country as well is apparent; and the means for safeguarding the industry of the future are simple and accessible.

JUSTICE THOMAS IS SPEAKER AT BANQUET

San Bernardino Sun.—"The Great Law of Life—Service." This was the subject of an address delivered by Justice W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, of the District Court of Appeals for the Southern District of California, before the San Bernardino Rotary Club last night at its regular monthly session.

The prevailing opinion among members of the club following the meeting was that the address was perhaps the strongest and most forceful, from the standpoint of human appeal, ever presented to the club since its organization. That America is for Americans—loyal Americans, was brought impressively and indelibly home to the local rotarians in a different way and with new thoughts.

Judge Thomas gave as his opinion that out of the strife and the stress of present-day unsettled conditions will come a greater America, for Americans, and that our difficulties will not be a struggle between capital and labor but a struggle of good against bad and that good will triumph.

Advice on Making the Herd Healthy Is Given By Santa Barbara Man

"Tuberculin Tests" was the subject of a very instructive paper read by Dr. A. L. O'Banion, of Santa Barbara, inspector of the animal industry division, of the State Department of Agriculture, to the California Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors at Riverside. Dr. O'Banion's paper in part follows:

As provided for under the pure milk law, which became effective October 1, 1916, the state veterinarian department has tuberculin tested up to July 1, 1919, a total of 157,297 cattle, divided as follows:

On first tests, 88,551, of which 11,211 reacted, or 12.6 per cent.

Second tests, 47,324, with 3784 reactors, or 7.9 per cent.

Third tests, 12,640, with 793 reactors, or 6.4 per cent.

Fourth tests, 5923, with 331 reactors, or 5.5 per cent.

Fifth tests, 1874, with 99 reactors, or 5.3 per cent.

Sixth tests, 980, of which 39 reacted, or 3.9 per cent.

Reductions Made

During the three years that this testing has been in progress the percentage of tuberculous cattle in the raw milk dairies has been reduced from 12 1/2 per cent to less than 4 per cent.

These results are readily remarkable and especially so since they have been accomplished without any great expense to the state or to the dairy industry. This has been made possible, owing to the fact that under the law it is optional with the dairymen as to whether they submit to the tuberculin testing of their herds with the removal of reactors or resort to pasteurization.

Under this law only two kinds of milk are put on the market, either from tuberculin-tested cows or pasteurized.

It is hard to estimate the amount of good that has resulted from the enforcement of these two provisions of the law, but undoubtedly a lesser amount of tuberculous children will be the result.

As an example of the rapidity with which tuberculous is sometimes spread to calves and hogs, I wish to call your attention to a few of the cases I have encountered during the course of my routine testing of raw milk dairy herds.

First—In a dairy herd of over 300 animals of which 140 reacted, were 14 calves, all less than three months of age, of which 12 reacted. This shows the high infectiousness of the milk fed to the calves, and this same milk was being sold raw before this law went into force. The owner of this herd recently told me that he had been called upon to return a check to a certain packing company of $900 to pay for hogs condemned on account of tuberculous, out of one carload shipped from this dairy ranch where raw skimmed milk was fed to the hogs. The owner of this herd has now separated his cattle into a tuberculin-tested herd and a reactor herd, and is now pasteurizing the milk fed to the hogs.

If hogs and calves so readily contract tuberculous when fed on raw milk, do we want to give this same kind of milk to our babies or drink it ourselves? I do not think so, and it is up to us, as inspectors and health officers to start a campaign of enlightenment for those who still discredit the tuberculin test, or scout the idea that bovine tuberculous may be spread to children.

Experiment Made
Second—A second case I desire to report is of a tubercular pure-bred herd in which an attempt was being made to eradicate tuberculous by tuberculin testing and removing all reactors to a separate dairy, removing calves at birth from the tubercular herd and then raising them on pasteurized milk.

After this plan had been followed for several months it was thought advisable to run another test on the supposedly tuberculous-free herd, as well as to test the calves from the diseased herd, which had been raised on pasteurized milk. This is the result:

Out of 40 animals tested in the so-called free herd, 15 reacted, and when casting about for an explanation which would account for the rapid spread of the disease among the tested animals, the owner informed me that he had returned two reactors to the herd, because they looked healthy and secondly, a friend of his had told him that he had fooled the inspector and put some reactors back in his herd. But the second man did not fool the inspector, but rather himself—since the two cows reacted and along with them 13 others.

Among the calves raised on pasteurized milk, 10 out of the 18 reacted. Again we were at a loss to understand where the infection had come from, since the segregation had been complete and a well-equipped pasteurizer was at hand. But we soon learned that through the frequent changing of employees, who attended to the feeding of the calves, occasionally the milk was not pasteurized. By calling your attention to this last case I do not wish to minimize the importance of pasteurization, but rather to point out the necessity of having a close supervision over all pasteurization plants in order to see to it that no milk gets through without first having been heated to the proper temperature and held the required length of time. If this is done a safe milk supply will be put on the market.

Raising Calves
It has been definitely proven that calves from tubercular dairy cows can be removed at birth and fed and raised on pasteurized milk and be free from tuberculous. Also hogs, when fed pasteurized milk from a tubercular herd, will not contract the disease.

Brer Rabbit Real New Orleans Molasses

This same milk, when pasteurized, is a safe food for children.

Coming back to the tuberculin test, I wish to call your attention to the fact that it is not a new means of diagnosing tuberculous, since it has been continuously used in this country and in every state in the Union for diagnosing tuberculous in cattle since 1887, or over 22 years. And second, tuberculin is credited with being the best diagnostic agent known to the medical profession.

In closing I wish to point out to you ways that you can help the raw milk dairymen to maintain a healthy herd.

First, advise them when purchasing animals to add to their herd, to buy them only subject to the tuberculin test and if possible from herds in which no reactors have been found, and to beware of unscrupulous cattle dealers and auction sales.

Second, to frequently carefully clean and disinfect stables, watering troughs, etc., where tubercular cattle have been kept.

Third—Call their attention to the fact that bovine tuberculous differs from human tuberculous in being a disease of aged cattle as well as young cattle. Tuberculous of the human is a disease of childhood, as adults rarely if ever contract the disease.

Fourth—Do not buy calves from dairy herds not known to be free from tuberculous, with the idea of raising them up to be producing dairy cows as they surely will react sooner or later, if they have been permitted to nurse their tubercular mother.

THESE GOODIES WON'T REQUIRE ANY SUGAR

Uncle Sam's Cooks Have Some Suggestions For Halloween Goodies

The young folks need not do without suitable confections for the Halloween party even though the sugar "shortage" continues to exist. What is more appropriate for this particular season than these candies, all of which can be made with corn sirup or molasses instead of sugar? Let the youngsters have their Halloween treat and serve some of the following sweets:

Pop-Corn Balls—Pop the dried corn in a regular corn popper or in a covered iron frying pan, shaking vigorously and taking care not to let it burn. A cup of dried corn will make three quarts when popped.

To make the pop-corn balls, boil together 1 cup of corn sirup, 1/2 teaspoon salt, and 1 tablespoon of vinegar until a few drops harden in cold water. Flavor with vanilla. Pour the sirup over three quarts of popped corn. As soon as the mass is cool enough to handle, grease the hands well and form into balls.

Peanut Pop-Corn Balls follow the above directions for making pop-corn balls, but use 2 quarts of pop corn and 2 cups of freshly roasted peanut meats.

Chocolate Pop-Corn Balls are a little bit different and the youngsters are sure to enjoy them.

Cook 1 cup of corn sirup for five minutes. Add 2 squares of chocolate and stir until melted. Cook slowly until a little dropped in water forms a soft ball. Beat until thick. Put 1 1/2 quarts of popped corn in a buttered pan and pour the sirup over it. Form into balls when cool enough to handle.

Peanut Brittle

1 cup white corn sirup.
1 tablespoon vinegar.
1/4 teaspoon salt.

1 teaspoon vanilla.
1 cup freshly roasted peanut meats.
Cook the corn sirup, vinegar, and salt in a saucepan until a little dropped in cold water forms a soft ball. Put the peanuts and the sirup into an iron skillet and stir until the sirup becomes a golden brown. Remove from the fire and stir in vanilla. Have ready a shallow buttered pan, pour candy into it and spread out in a thin sheet. Allow to cool, then remove from the pan and crack into pieces.

Molasses Taffy

Cook 1 cup of New Orleans molasses with 1 tablespoon of vinegar until the sirup forms a hard ball when dropped in cold water. Add 1 tablespoon of butter before removing from the stove. Pour into a shallow buttered pan, and when cool enough to handle pull until porous and hard. Stretch out and mark into 1-inch pieces while still slightly soft. Break into pieces when cold.

CITRUS INSTITUTE TO BE AT CHAFFEY

Problems of vital importance to deciduous fruit growers will be taken up at a short course to be held under the auspices of Chaffey junior college of agriculture at Ontario, November 10 to 20. Geo. P. Weldon, pomologist, in charge of the course, says it will be the purpose to make this course exceedingly practical, and not only will Chaffey faculty have a part in the work, but experts from the University of California and the United States Department of Agriculture will aid.

One of the big problems right now in that section is that of spraying the peaches for the control of thrips and twig border. Power sprayers are needed, and an effort is being made to have manufacturers of sprayers of approved makes have them on exhibition and have regular demonstration periods.

Mr. Weldon has furnished the following tentative program for the course, which will be held four afternoons a week from 3 to 5 o'clock, with at least two evening lectures.

DEMPEY IS NOT QUITE READY TO FIGHT

Kearns Won't Talk Business With Promoter Who Will Put Up $25,000

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Dempsey is not ready to fight yet.

Despite the yarn coming from the champion's circus tent that he was pinning and wasting himself away to get back in the ring, his manager, Jack Kearns, wouldn't talk business last night when the New Jersey promoter, Dave Mackay, offered him $25,000 for an eight round, no decision fight with Willie Meehan, Fred Fulton, Bill Brennan or Battling Levin-sky.

It appears that the movie game hasn't been squeezed for dollars by the champion and he wants to try his hand at that before he "risks" his title.

Dempsey's first bid for easy coin on the vaudeville stage was the "bloomer" of the season. His next whirl with the circus proved a disappointment and finally Kearns came east to sign up any kind of a fight in New York.

That old line from the ringside in Toledo—"the champion will fight anyone and everyone"—was repeated from almost every flag station on Kearns' route up from Texas. It looked as though Kearns really meant to put the champion back in the ring in the very near future.

But Mackay could not pin him down to anything. The only indication of fight from the Dempsey quarter came when mention was made of Fred Fulton. Kearns said the champion would fight the Minnesota plasterer the first time he met him—even if it was on the street.

WORKERS DENOUNCE FEDERATION HEADS

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 30.—The conservative element in the Arizona State Federation of Labor asserted a controlling hand yesterday following adoption of resolutions pledging loyalty to the government and denouncing the present officers of the federation at a spirited meeting last night.

Resolutions were passed repudiating the administration of Thos. J. Groaff, president, and George D. Smith, secretary of the federation and demanding their resignations on the ground that they had attempted to turn over the organization to the I. W. W. The resolution also charged that Smith and Groaff had made the state headquarters a "comfort station for the I. W. W." It pledged the loyalty of the Arizona State Federation to the United States government and the American Federation of Labor.

After spirited debate the resolution passed by a vote of 42 to 17. Following the passage of the resolution both officials refused to submit their resignations and there were indications of a stormy session today.

HOOVER SAYS SURPLUS WILL CUT FOOD COST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Lower food prices must come within the next few months because of a large surplus of supplies now accumulating, Herbert Hoover, America's food expert predicted before the House War Department expenditures committee yesterday. Results of this year's harvest, Hoover said, will be a surplus of 16,000,000 to 20,000,000 tons of food. This accumulating surplus already has been reflected in the lowering of wholesale prices, he said, although no appreciable decrease has been shown in retail prices.

MASONIC TEMPLE

FULLERTON, Oct. 30.—Plans for the new Masonic Temple are about completed and work is expected to be started within a short time, according to Frank K. Benchley, architect, who drew the plans. Sub-contracts will be advertised for, but the work will be under the personal supervision of Benchley. This will be one of the handsomest Masonic temples in the state when completed. It will be located on the lot at the corner of Spadra and Chapman avenues.

TAKING CENSUS OF PLANTS ON THIS EARTH

With All Returns Not in, 250,000 Varieties are Listed

Now Uncle Sam is to take a census it is interesting to know something about the number of plants. The great Swedish naturalist Linnaeus, the father of modern scientific nomenclature, described about 10,000 different plants. Since his time scientific explorers have gone out to all parts of the earth to continue the census of the plant world. But to this day the census is still so far from complete that every year a hundred or more field men can each bring large collections of new species to the great herbariums of Europe and America says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington.

So vast has grown the number of plants discovered and described that if Linnaeus could come back to his beloved Upsala, he would be lost in his own realm, for his modest census of 10,000 plants has grown to the bewildering total of 250,000 and will very likely pass 300,000 before the last returns are in, if in fact, there will ever be any last returns.

Of this vast number of plants probably about 10,000 are trees ranging in size from the dwarfs, four feet high to the giants that reach nearly four hundred feet toward the clouds. About 150,000 species would be classed as flowering plants, including grasses, herbs, trees, vines and small woody plants of all kinds.

The delicate fronded ferns and their allies, the highest of the flowerless plants, would be represented by about 3,000 species mostly from tropical regions; and the tiny mosses, the humble pignies among leaf-bearing plants, would add 16,000 species to the list.

The remarkable plants known as algae, which float as threads of green scum, or live as little green balls in water or moist places, or grow in the sea like the giant kelp, swell the census by at least 15,000.

The list would close with about 65,000 of that wonderfully diverse class of vegetable forms known as fungi.

W. E. Stradley has a double garage well under way on his Chapman avenue property and material on the ground for a string of six for his houses on Main and Melrose.

Stradley is also getting out plans for another six-room house on Chapman, and will probably start two or three more in the not distant future.
